

Man, 35, Sought In Death Of Girl

By TOM COOK
Outstate Nebraska Bureau
Wilber — A warrant for first degree murder was issued Tuesday night for the arrest of Donald Gene Anderson in connection with the death of Ann Marie Scott, 15, of Friend.
Saline County Attorney Bob Conner said the complaint alleges the 35-year-old Anderson, formerly of Wanchewee, Wash., killed the teenager "feloniously and knowingly in the perpetration of, or attempt to perpetrate rape."
Anderson may have left the state, Conner said, and may be traveling with his three children.

He said the Scott murder was the first he had investigated and the first in Saline County in about 15 years.

Anderson was described as 5-feet 9-inches, 155 pounds with sandy hair and a normal build.

Residents of Friend say there has been an increase in petty crime and minor disturbances this summer in their community of 1,128.

Not Enough

Some say the one full time policeman they have is not enough to handle law enforcement in the community.

Conner said speeding on U.S. 6, which runs through the town unhindered by stop lights, creates a law enforcement problem.

The Saline County sheriff's office doesn't have the staff or the responsibility to enforce municipal ordinances in Friend, Conner said.

Working In Friend

Anderson had been working in Friend as a painter for a contracting crew for less than a week and was last seen driving a 1962-64, white Chevrolet with Washington license plates, Rinqwest said.

Conner said Anderson had been in Nebraska previously and that the investigation by the Saline County sheriff's office and the State Patrol is continuing.

A search of the vacant farm and surrounding area where the body was found did not result in the finding of a weapon or the clothing the girl was last seen wearing, Conner said.

Right-Of-Way Fight Snares 'Little Guy'

By NANCY HICKS
Star Staff Writer
Thomas McGinn is the little guy caught in the middle of bureaucratic indecision and government infighting.
McGinn just wants to build a house out in the country as quickly and as quietly as possible. But his dream is being delayed while the County Board, the City-County Planning Department and the County Engineer haggle over road right of way requirements, a question they have been debating all summer.
McGinn has invested five months of time, more than $100 in permit fees and inspection and testing costs. And along the way he has met every requirement that he was informed of.

Still Delayed
Still his permit for a subdivision on Pioneers Blvd. at S. 144th St. is being delayed and may be denied.

And while he waits the cost of his home is getting higher. McGinn bid the house five months ago, and the contractor has told him the price will have to be changed because of the delay.

When McGinn learned that his bank won't finance a home on more than five acres of land, he applied for a subdivision permit. (A parcel under five acres falls under the county's subdivision regulations.) That was in April.

In May the County Board voted to enforce a rule in the 1961 subdivision regulations requiring that road right of way be deeded to the county when subdivision are created.

Had Been Ignored
The rule, which saves land along the roadway for future road expansion, had been ignored for many years.

After the May decision an inter-departmental fight erupted, a disagreement which has yet to be resolved.

The Planning Department and the County Engineer cannot agree on what are "major" roads.
And when they find a road that both agree is "major" they quarrel over the number of feet needed for right of way. The Planning Department has been following the minimum 40-foot requirement, while County Engineer Marv Nuernberger has said the county needs 50 feet in some cases.

Unable To Compromise

And the County Board has been unable to get the two departments to work out a compromise or a solution.

McGinn and his country home got caught in the cross fire.

The Planning Department asked for a 40-foot right of way. McGinn and the current owner (McGinn is buying the land on land contract) agreed to deed over the extra seven feet needed to bring the right of way up to 40 feet.

The permit application sailed through the Planning Commission with a stamp of approval, but stopped at the County Board when Nuernberger asked for a 50-foot right of way to protect against future road widening.

A compromise of sorts failed when the co-owner Kenneth Meyer refused to grant the extra 10 feet as an easement to the county.

Delayed Once More

And Tuesday the County Board delayed the permit for a second week in the hopes that a personal call by Board Chairman Jan Gauger might change Meyer's mind on the easement.

McGinn is certain nothing will change Meyer's mind, and he fears that next week the board will deny the application because he can't come up with the extra 10 feet of right of way.

In frustration and anger McGinn almost withdrew the subdivision application after Tuesday's delaying decision. "I almost told the board what I thought of it and the rules."

But he decided to wait yet another week in hope that the other commissioners will come around to the viewpoint of Bruce Hamilton who said, "Why should we keep punishing applicants for something that is our fault."

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Rhodesia's white-minority rulers and their black nationalist opponents accused each other Tuesday of torpedoing the Victoria Falls talks on the nation's political future.

Prime Minister Ian Smith claimed before an applauding Parliament that demands made by the African National Council (ANC), the umbrella group linking black nationalist groups, would have meant allowing exiled terrorists and murderers to return to this central African country.

Smith said he will now seek a political deal with tribal chiefs and other moderate blacks who are not pressing with the ANC for immediate majority rule.

In Livingstone, Zambia, ANC leader Bishop Abel Muzorewa said Smith had not wanted to talk with the ANC and the prime minister's attitude was "very consistent with the effort which he made to wreck the talks. I think he failed."

"He hoped we would refuse to go to Rhodesia (for subsequent meetings)," Muzorewa said. "We accepted all the points brought to the table, with minor amendments." He did not elaborate.

The bishop added he hoped Smith "will come back to his senses and negotiate with us."

"If he's going to go to the chiefs and other African groups, we say good luck," the black leader said. "We feel that whatever agreement he reaches with the chiefs and a few sellouts will be completely wiped out by the ANC movement because of its causes and strength."

Smith told Parliament that his government, which unilaterally declared independence from Britain in 1965 to preserve white minority rule, had demanded that further rounds of the talks be held inside Rhodesia. In return, he said, the ANC had demanded that exiled ANC members be permitted to return and move freely about the country.

This was quite unacceptable, he said. "It would involve people who are well-known terrorist leaders, who bear the responsibility for the murders and other atrocities which have been perpetrated in the country."

Monday's talks in a luxury railway car over the Zambezi River at the Rhodesian-Zambian frontier were intended to work toward majority rule in Rhodesia and prevent an escalation of the black guerrilla war.

Rhodesia's government and economy are entirely controlled by the former British colony's 270,000 whites even though the 5.7 million blacks outnumber them more than 20 to 1.

Smith told parliament he now plans to hold constitutional talks with conciliatory blacks, those who have indicated they will break off from the ANC and settle for a promise of black rule in the future rather than right now.

When Smith left Victoria Falls earlier in the day both he and ANC leaders were saying they did not feel the talks had broken down. The prime minister said he would return to Victoria Falls to sign a preliminary agreement if the ANC agreed to his demand to hold the next stage of talks inside Rhodesia.

President Kenneth Kaunda of Zambia and South African Foreign Minister Hilgard Muller made a last-ditch plea to ANC leaders at Livingstone on the Zambian side of the border to save the talks.

Bishop Abel Muzorewa, leader of the ANC, told newsmen in Livingstone: "There is no breakdown and talks will go on."

But as the conference train provided by South Africa was towed away from the bridge high over the Zambezi with a mournful toot from the locomotive, it seemed hopes were fading although some sort of agreement was not entirely ruled out.

There appeared to be a possibility that Joshua Nkomo, one of the ANC leaders, might go ahead independently in an agreement with Smith.

Nkomo is the former leader of the Zimbabwe African Peoples Union which was absorbed into the ANC last December.

Student Plunges 10 Floors

A University of Nebraska at Lincoln student was critically injured Tuesday afternoon when he apparently fell through a residence hall window, plunged 10 stories and landed on a wooden bench, the Campus Police reported.

The name of the student, who is 18 years old and from outside of Lincoln, is being withheld pending notification of relatives.

The man was breathing but unconscious when firemen arrived to provide medical assistance. He was taken to Lincoln General Hospital by ambulance where he was reported in critical condition Tuesday night with head injuries, broken ribs and a broken pelvis.

According to Campus Police, the man fell through the large plate glass window in his room at Abel Hall about 5 p.m., and plunged about 100 feet striking the wooden bench after falling through the five-foot tall tree above it.

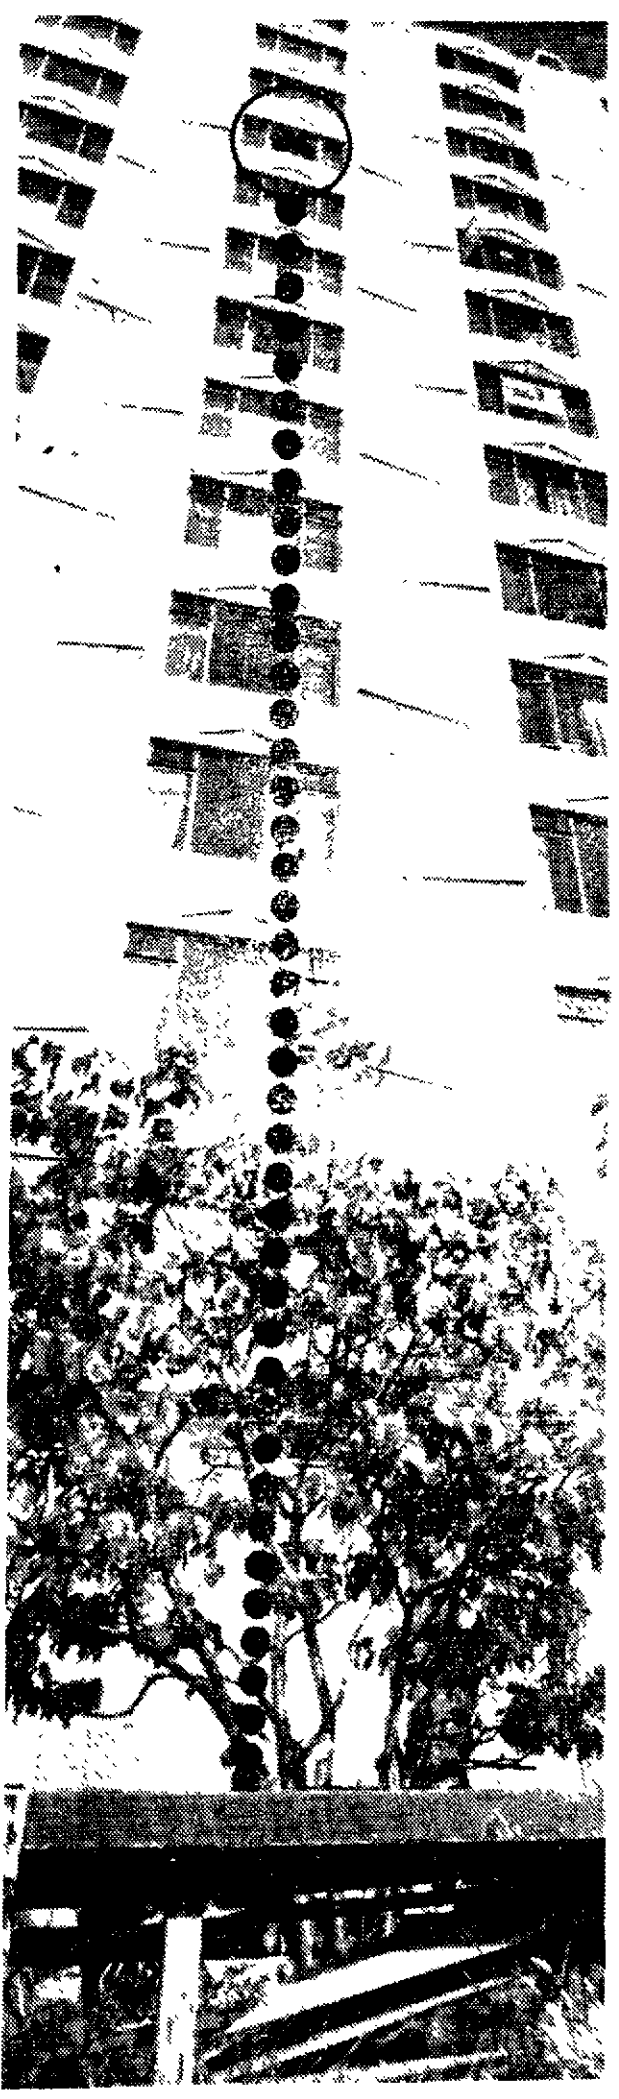

The force of the impact broke the bench.

Gail Gade, head of Campus Police, said the tree and bench broke the fall and may have prevented the man's immediate death.

Gade said Campus Police is investigating the incident with help from the Nebraska State Patrol. He would not say whether anyone else was in the room when the man fell.

Israel Prepares To Lose Oilfields

TEL AVIV (AP) — While the rest of the world tries to conserve oil against an energy crisis, Israel reluctantly is preparing to sacrifice almost its entire oil production and depend on U.S. guarantees for its fuel needs.

Under the latest Israeli-Egyptian pact being negotiated by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, Israel is to surrender the Abu Rudeis oilfields on the Gulf of Suez, captured from Egypt in the 1967 Middle East war.

Israeli officials have said American assurances of future oil supplies will be included in a separate accord between Jerusalem and Washington.

Although Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin calls Abu Rudeis "the most important industry in Israel," he has several times said that he would agree to give it back to Egypt in order to secure a pact as a move toward eventual peace. In exchange, Kissinger has offered American guarantees that Israel will get all the oil it needs from other unspecified sources.

For the Israeli military, with its fuel-hungry jets and tanks, and for Israeli motorists who already pay $1.76 a gallon for gasoline, it's more a matter of money than oil since very little liquid from Abu Rudeis, if any, goes into Israeli fuel tanks.

Israeli authorities say the oil is "unsuitable" for local consumption, for classified reasons, so it is exported to secret destinations and the revenues spent on more suitable oil, mainly from Iran.

Despite the rich oilfields of its neighbor, Israel has almost no fuel resources of its own. Except for a few meager wells on Israeli territory, the only place where the crude bubbles up is at Abu Rudeis, 240 miles from Tel Aviv.

Since the 1967 conflict, the 72 desert wells and offshore rigs of the 30-mile-long complex, turning out 31.5 million barrels a year, have produced the equivalent of 60% of Israel's fuel needs.

Almost within hours of the capture of Abu Rudeis in 1967, Israeli technicians flew to the sandy oil center, landing on the marine platforms within range of Egyptian guns, and a month later the Arab oil was moving to Israel.

The crude production, unofficially estimated at 85,000 barrels a day, is ferried on tankers from the Gulf of Suez to Israel's Red Sea port of Eilat. From there, it is pumped in a 159-mile pipeline across the Negev Desert to the Mediterranean for loading aboard export ships.

With Abu Rudeis reverting to the Egyptians, officials are silent on exactly how Washington can guarantee future oil for Israel when the United States has trouble guaranteeing its own fuel supplies.

"But the United States can make sure we have oil, either from our present source or new ones, or even from America's own resources if necessary," says one Israeli government aide. At least some of the cost would be paid by the United States.

Only four months ago, Israel's chief oil adviser, Zvi Dinstein, told parliament that "no state can guarantee that we would be able to obtain the same quantities of oil that we are producing from Abu Rudeis."

To stockpile bigger fuel imports in the future, government officials disclosed that the United States is discussing financial aid to enlarge Israel's underground reservoirs.

Egypt will get back a lesser prize than she lost. Abu Rudeis Manager Michael Kisch says about half of the oilfield's capacity has been exhausted and pumping out the remaining 50% "will be difficult work."

Falling Brick Hits Worker

A 65-year-old demolition worker was listed in critical condition Tuesday night after a falling brick struck him on the head Monday.

William A. Stamp, of 4208 Cornhusker, was being held in the intensive care unit at Lincoln General Hospital.

According to police reports, Stamp was walking to get a water jug in the alley behind the building being torn down at 1331 N when bricks fell from the third story.

Police said the wrecking ball and crane were not operating at the time. Stamp was not wearing a hard hat, police said.

Peron Rejects Laplane's Resignation

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Army chief Gen. Alberto Numa Laplane resigned Tuesday night but President Isabel Peron rejected the resignation, the government said.

Peronists rallied behind the embattled president in an atmosphere of rumors about a possible military coup.

The army high command said Interior Minister Vicente Damasco, a colonel and the only military man in Mrs. Peron's cabinet, requested retirement from the army in an effort to heal a growing rift in army ranks. Army sources said Damasco's request was granted. It was understood he would remain in the cabinet.

Five top generals had demanded Damasco's immediate retirement from the army.

"Gen. Laplane continues in his post as general commander with all his legal and regulation power," said the government communique issued by Mrs.

Peron's press office about the army chief.

Military sources earlier had said army commanders in Cordoba and Rosario had cabled Laplane urging him to resign. The report was not confirmed.

Earlier, the powerful General Labor Confederation (CGT) and the ruling Peronist party decreed a "state of alert and mobilization" among their followers to support Mrs. Peron. The leaders of the 3.5 million-strong CGT, the backbone of Peronism, issued their communique after a hurried meeting with Mrs. Peron at her suburban residence. Besides support for Mrs. Peron, they called for defense of "constitutional order."

The Peronist party later issued a communique resembling the CGT statement.

The labor leaders said they issued the communique in view of the military split but that they would stay out of internal military bickering as long as it did not touch the nation's institutions. It was not immediately clear what the "mobilization" in their communique referred to. Buenos Aires was calm.

Military sources said leaves were canceled in some army units in Rosario, Bahia Blanca and Cordoba and in some navy units in Buenos Aires. Police sources said departmental leaves in Buenos Aires also were canceled.

Memorial Planned For Accident Victim

The young friends of 7-year-old David Ketterer, a Lincoln traffic accident victim, will plant a tree in his memory at Eden Park Pool, 40th and Eden Circle, Friday at 4 p.m.

Ketterer, son of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Ketterer of 2810 S. 48th, was killed July 12 when he was struck by a car on 40th between Normal Blvd. and Antelope Creek Rd.

After the accident, Mrs. Ketterer said, David's neighborhood friends began collecting money so that a tree could be planted at the pool he had left just minutes before the accident.

Mrs. Ketterer said the neighborhood kids raised $38.40 "all on their own" and "that's a lot of nickels and dimes."

A park ranger will be on hand Friday to make sure the young tree is properly planted, she said.

Poker Planner Keeps Trying

A proposed poker tournament for Lincolmites would be illegal, according to a letter from acting police chief Dale Adams to the man who made the proposal.

John Long, manager of Indoor Recreation, Inc. said he received a short letter from Adams Tuesday stating that the city and county attorneys both believe it would be illegal.

Long isn't going to let the matter drop there, however. He wants to find out if the officials plan to enforce the law.

County Atty. Ron Lahners and City Atty. Charles Humble could not be reached for comment. In a letter to the officials, Long had argued that his poker tournament would be set up like the U.S. Open Chess Tournament, which awarded $16,000 in prize money.

Third World Nations Blast U.S.

LIMA, Peru (AP) — The United States came under strong attack, direct and implied, Tuesday in the second day of a conference of Third World nations whose delegates represent the bulk of the world's poor peoples.

Foreign Minister Milos Minic of Yugoslavia spearheaded the oratorical assault in a prepared address which deplored, among other things, the U.S. role in Latin America and its record on the Panama Canal question.

Panama has just become a member of the nonaligned bloc. Three other new members, whose election underscored the anti-U.S. thrust of this conference, are North Korea, North Vietnam and the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO). This brings total membership to 82.

The conference, however, turned down the application of South Korea, which has U.S. ties. It also rejected the applications of the Philippines and Guatemala for observer status.

Acceptance of the PLO came at a moment when Egyptian-Israeli agreement on a new military disengagement was reported imminent. This, some delegates suggested, could slow down the drive here for another resolution urging the United Nations to expel or suspend Israel.

However, a PLO representative here called its admission a "triumph for the people of Palestine" and said it moved the question "a step closer to the United Nations."

"The next step is expulsion of Israel," said Farouk Kadoumi, head of the PLO delegation.

Diplomats noted there was near unanimity on admission of the Communist states and the PLO, though some insisted on reservations with regards to North Korea. South Korea, however, was rejected in any package deal, for lack of "consensus."

Having cleared away the membership question, the delegates began to zero in on their main targets: the United States, the advanced world in general and the big multinational corporations, to which many in the Third World impute a large measure of blame for their crushing problems either because of a colonial past or the present economic imbalance.

Minic, who is vice president and secretary for foreign affairs of Yugoslavia, singled out the U.S. role in Latin America — notably in Panama and Cuba — for special attention.

"The nonaligned countries give their full support to the Latin American countries in their efforts to resist successfully foreign interference and all forms of pressure, to consolidate their political and economic independence and security and to dispose of their natural resources in a sovereign manner," Minic said.

In that spirit, he said, the conference should work toward helping Panama establish sovereignty over the canal, and Cuba over the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo, and "to liquidate the remaining colonial enclaves in the regions of the Caribbean and Latin America."

In other developments Tuesday: — U. N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim said in a message relayed to the conference by Abdul Rahin Fara, his undersecretary for special political affairs, that the "main problems still remain to be solved" in the Middle East, including recognition of the rights of the Palestinian refugees. He called for continued negotiations.

— Foreign Minister Juan Antonio Tack of Panama, which was admitted as a full member Tuesday, said his government was opposed to the expulsion of Israel from the United Nations. "The state of Israel was created by a United Nations resolution and we must abide by it, since one of the goals of the nonaligned movement is precisely to strengthen the United Nations," he said.

Decision 'Unfair' — U.S. Officials

WASHINGTON (AP) — American officials Tuesday described as "grossly unfair" the decision of the Conference of Nonaligned Nations in Lima to grant full membership to North Korea while rejecting an application from South Korea.

The State Department declined comment on the action but privately officials said the rationale for turning down South Korea applies equally to North Korea and to its close ties to its Communist allies.

Delegates at the 82-nation conference in Lima said the Seoul regime was viewed with suspicion because of its alliance with the United States.

One American official said the conference decision "makes one wonder how the term nonaligned is being defined."

Ford Fails To Get Grain Loading Agreement

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration failed to win union agreement Tuesday to load grain bound for the Soviet Union, but officials said more meetings are planned on the subject.

Emerging from a long White House meeting, AFL-CIO President George Meany told reporters that no decisions had been made.

"The situation is not changed in any respect, except that we have more information and expect to continue discussions," he said.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said the discussion centered on "grain exports, living costs and maritime issues." He said that no decisions were reached, but there would be more meetings.

"The President will participate in the future meetings as appropriate," Nessen said.

Ford personally intervened in efforts to resolve the impasse with Meany and maritime union leaders who earlier demanded assurances that the big Soviet grain purchase would not drive up consumer prices. The labor leaders also wanted guarantees that would assure a certain percentage of the shipment would be carried in U.S. flag vessels.

The White House session followed a luncheon meeting at the Labor Department among the union chiefs, Labor Secretary John T. Dunlop, Budget Director James T. Lynn and other administration officials.

Also at the Dunlop-Meany meeting, a Labor Department spokesman said, were director William Seidman of Ford's Economic Policy Board, president Thomas Gleason of the International Longshoremen Association, president Paul Hall of the Seafarers International Union and AFL-CIO secretary-treasurer Lane Kirkland.

Under orders from Meany and Gleason, after a meeting last week of the heads of all maritime unions, longshoremen in Houston refused to load grain bound for the Soviet Union. The shipments have resumed, however, under court order.

Slayton Cancer Benign

HOUSTON (AP) — Surgeons removed a small, benign nodule from the left lung of astronaut Donald K. Slayton on Tuesday and said the spaceman should recover fully.

Dr. Charles Berry, Slayton's long-time physician, said a three-to four-centimeter wedge was removed from Slayton's lung and that studies showed that a nodule within the specimen was not malignant.

"Frozen sections of the nodule revealed no evidence of malignancy," Berry said at a news conference following the 2½-hour operation.

He said there is no way to determine what caused the nodule and there was no evidence of other lesions.

Slayton, 51, one of the nation's original seven Mercury astronauts, was discovered to have the lesion — about the size of a pencil eraser — during detailed X-ray examinations following the Apollo-Soyuz spaceflight.

Slayton and his crewmates, Thomas P. Stafford and Vance Brand, inhaled poison gas during the final minutes of their mission last month. They were confined to a Hawaiian hospital and doctors conducting detailed X-rays found the nodule in Slayton's lung.

Women Eye More Gains

By The Associated Press

Women around the nation celebrated a 55-year-old victory on Tuesday by pledging to fight for further gains in their struggle for full equality.

Most of the activities marking the anniversary of the ratification of the 19th Amendment giving women the right to vote were low key in contrast to the fervor of preious equal rights demonstrations.

President Ford declared his determination "to make our government a showcase of equal opportunity." He said Women's Equality Day "reminds us of how much more needs to be done to make equal opportunity a reality in our national life."

One of Ford's own staff members, Patricia Lindh, a presidential assistant on women, said in a speech in Kittery, Maine, that the federal government remains a male-dominated institution.

But she said there are signs of progress. "Bit by bit, bill by bill, case by case and decision by decision, we are closing the gap," she said.

The National Organization for Women sponsored a series of demonstrations around the country focusing on everything from equal employment opportunities to crime in the streets.

A major aim of some of the demonstrators is ratification of the proposed Equal Rights Amendment banning discrimination because of sex. The amendment must be ratified by 38 states by 1979 to become law and thus far has won approval in 34.

Some of Tuesday's celebrations harked to the days of the suffragettes. Three women who fought for adoption of the 19th Amendment and who voted for the first time in 1920 were special guests as Pennsylvania Gov. Milton Shapp signed a proclamation designating Aug. 26 as Equal Rights Day.

Gov. Daniel Walker of Illinois prepared to sign a bill making the birthday of suffrage leader Susan B. Anthony a state holiday.

The U.S. Postal Service chose Seneca Falls, N.Y., scene of the first women's suffrage convention in the United States, to issue a commemorative stamp celebrating 1975 as International Women's Year.

"Some day I hope that women will be equal enough so that we don't have to issue a stamp about it," said Miriam Schotland, who designed the commemorative issue featuring a golden female biological symbol against a white background.

"It's a little scary that we have to have a whole year to declare ourselves equal and we have to pass laws and issue stamps stating that we're equal," she added.

Women today are in the majority, comprising more than half the U.S. population. A Census Bureau survey also showed that almost four million more women than men voted in 1972, although the percentage of eligible women actually casting ballots was smaller than the percentage of eligible men who did so.

The nation's only woman governor, Ella Grasso of Connecticut, said in a broadcast interview that she was remiss in not taking an earlier interest in the women's movement. "I had gone around plodding and doing my work while all this great movement was swirling around me," she said.

Ullman Urges Congress Make Tax Cut Permanent

Washington (UPI) — Rep. Al Ullman, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, proposed Tuesday making permanent the $7.7 billion in tax cuts for individuals enacted this spring to bring the country out of the recession.

As passed in April, the tax cut was to have been a one-time economic stimulant. The administration has not decided whether it favors an extension. Economic spokesmen say that decision can be put off until October.

If the tax cut is not extended in 1976, taxes would automatically rise starting Jan. 1. Psychol-would reflect an increase in tax withholding.

For individuals, the tax cuts which Ullman proposed making permanent were:

Raising the minimum standard deduction from $1,300 to $1,600 and to $1,900 for joint returns; increasing the percentage standard deduction from 15 to 16% and the maximum standard deduction from $2,000 to $2,300 for single persons and to $2,600 for joint returns; and giving every taxpayer, taxpayer's spouse and dependent a tax credit of $30. A credit is an amount subtracted from taxes owed.

Firemen Walk Off Asking Pay Hikes

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Fire fighters walked off the job Tuesday for higher pay and the mayor declared a state of emergency in order to get state help.

Mayor Warren Widener said two units from the California Division of Forestry were dispatched to this city of 120,000 to protect the University of California campus and other state and county property here.

Jim Brunetti of the executive board of the Berkeley Fire Fighters Association Local 1227 said pickets were outside the city's fire stations. The walkout came six days after San Francisco firemen won higher wages in a brief strike.

Deputy Fire Chief Roland Scrivner said about 15 of the department's 167 fire fighters remained on duty, meaning only two or three of the city's 12 pieces of equipment were operational.

City Manager John Taylor said Berkeley has mutual aid agreements with neighboring communities to provide help in an emergency.

In anticipation of a possible walkout, bags were placed over the city's fire alarm boxes Monday to discourage their use during any strike. Taylor said that 85% of calls to the Fire Department are false alarms.

"Frankly I'm scared, I'm worried about fire protection," Brunetti said. "But the City Council has made absolutely no movement at all."

Brunetti said negotiations with the council broke off at 2 a.m. Tuesday.

Taylor said most of the union's original 44 demands have been resolved, but both sides remain "very far apart" on money issues.

Firemen are seeking a 16.5% raise that would give them salaries ranging from $15,252 to $16,800 a year. The city's offer of an 8% boost this year and 7% next July would provide a salary range of $14,136 to $15,576.

FIREBOX... covered during strike.

Firemen in San Francisco walked out last Wednesday, joining police who struck Aug. 18 for more pay. The strike ended Thursday in an emergency order by Mayor Joseph Alioto, but the settlement is being contested in court.

Trade Surplus Is $977 Million

(c) Washington Star

Washington — U.S. exports exceeded imports by a substantial margin in July for the sixth straight month, although the trade surplus was reduced by a spurt in oil imports, the Commerce Department reported Tuesday.

The department estimated the July trade surplus at $977 million, adjusted to discount seasonal influences, down from the record surplus of $1.737 billion in June.

Reduced demand for imports during the recession was a big factor in building up trade surpluses, and most analysts expect the surplus to shrink as the economy recovers.

The surplus has been much larger than expected so far, and this has strengthened the value of the dollar abroad.

Exports increased 2.2% to $8.885 billion from June to July, while imports rose 13.7% to $7.908 billion, trimming the surplus to $977 million.

Counting the $211 million deficit in January, the cumulative trade surplus so far this year totals $6.41 billion. There was a deficit of $2.343 billion for all of 1974.

It appears almost certain that the total surplus this year will break the record of $7.083 billion set in 1964.

A $866 million rise in imports of crude oil and petroleum products was the main element in last month's increase in the import total. Oil imports had dropped sharply in June.

In absolute terms, without seasonal adjustment, imports of oil and petroleum products increased by 61.6 million barrels to 179.8 million barrels from June to July. These imports cost $2.047 billion, a rise of $707 million.

Oil imports have fluctuated erratically this year, partly because of extra import fees. The scheduled removal of these fees may increase the volume of oil imports and anticipated price increases by the foreign oil cartel presumably will raise the cost. July oil imports of 179.8 million barrels still were well below the January figure of 295.5 million barrels and the July 1974, amount of 200.9 million barrels.

A seasonally adjusted increase of $168 million in imports of transportation equipment, including automobiles, also contributed to the sharp rise of total imports last month.

The biggest export gains were $181 million for soybeans, $74 million for motor vehicles and parts and $49 million for wheat.

Large grain sales to the Soviet Union will substantially increase agricultural exports in the months ahead.

However, economic recovery in the United States is proceeding faster than recovery abroad, so most analysts expect U.S. imports to grow more than exports later this year, reducing the U.S. trade surplus and possibly shifting the accounts into deficit.

Kuwait Willing To Participate In Oil Embargo

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — A Kuwaiti official, here to promote a nearby resort island the Arab sheikdom plans to develop, said Tuesday Kuwait would not hesitate to participate in an oil embargo against the United States and other countries if circumstances make it necessary.

"I assure you, at a time when I need to defend myself, I will not hesitate to use any weapon to destroy my enemy or those helping my enemy," said Minister of Finance Abdul Rahman Salem Al-Atiki at a news conference. He did not elaborate.

Al-Atiki, whose country produces 700 million barrels of oil a year, also said there will probably be a 10% increase in the price of oil following the September meeting of Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries — OPEC — "to cover the shrinking dollar."

He said impending U.S. decontrol of oil prices would have some effect worldwide but he did not discuss possible cost increases. He said decontrol "will help us conserve energy."

The official said Americans are "tremendously" wasteful consumers of energy and called on them to conserve more. "It's not only you who will benefit, but all of us."

Asked about Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's current Mideast peace talks, Al-Atiki said, "It's a tremendous effort. We hope he will meet with success."

"We are looking forward to the day when the U.S. can be credited with this achievement."

Al-Atiki and other Kuwaiti officials were in South Carolina as part of a goodwill trip and to promote development of Kiawah Island near Charleston. Kuwait has bought the coastal island and plans to turn it into a resort.

New York Times Summary

U.S. Involvement Seen

Jerusalem — The United States seems destined to emerge from negotiations for an Egyptian-Israeli accord as the major outside power in the Middle East, deeply involved in the affairs of the area, in the view of Arab, Israeli and American officials. Some of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's aides are wondering if the United States may not be getting too involved. Most officials feel the process has been started and will be difficult to stop.

Kissinger Speech Revealed

Washington — Secretary of State Kissinger is expected to take a more conciliatory stand toward demands from the developing nations for a greater share of the world's wealth when he addresses the United Nations General Assembly next week. The draft of his speech is said to include proposals for a world food reserve system, more credits and lower tariffs to promote industrialization, aid to increase farm output, financing of trade deficits, and new international facilities to guide such activities.

Kremlin Urges 'Smash'

Moscow — The Kremlin, in its most authoritative broadcast against China in recent months, has urged a policy of "smashing Maoism" and warned that any Communists remaining neutral would be serving the "anti-Marxist" interests of Peking. Moscow avoided suggesting what specific action should be taken against China. But its call appeared to mark a new stage in Soviet efforts to discredit the policies of Mao Tse-tung within the Communist movement.

Risk Seen In Pill Use

Washington — The obstetrics and gynecology advisory committee of the Food and Drug Administration has recommended that women over 40 be urged to discontinue using birth control pills because for that age group the risk of death from heart attack is four times as great as for non-users. An FDA bulletin mailed to physicians recommended the shift to alternate birth control methods on the basis of two recent British studies. For women aged 30 to 39 the risk for pill users was reported as 2.7 times that for non-users.

13-Cent Stamps Possible

Washington — The Postal Rate Commission has overruled the recommendation of an administrative law judge that first-class rates for letters be lowered. Instead it opened the way to raise surface mail letter rates from 10 cents to 13 cents, according to informed administration sources.

N.Y.C. Has Edge

Washington — New York appeared to have a decisive edge over Los Angeles for the 1976 Democratic National Convention on the eve of the decision by Robert S. Strauss, the party chairman, and a 20-member site selection committee.

'No' Is Not Enough

It is our view that contrary to the opinion of City Councilman Steve Cook, the council as a whole was being "fiscally responsible" in granting city employees a ten per cent cost of living pay increase for the next fiscal year.

Cook was alone in voting against the fiscal 1975-76 city budget on the basis that the ten per cent pay hike included therein was not a product of fiscal responsibility.

Considering the 7 1/2 per cent adjustment that the council had originally settled on, and the actual increase in the cost of living over the past year, and a reversal of what had been a hopeful downward inflationary trend, the ten per cent raise not only was well within the realm of responsibility, it barely meets the minimum standard for decency.

The difference between the 7 1/2 per cent and the ten per cent pay increase will result in the city tax levy being raised an additional .77 mill, but all things considered, the city budget and the tax levy required to support it are of rather modest proportions.

In our book it is easy to call for lower salaries for government workers and lower utility rates, but not altogether responsible to do so without making other major decisions.

Councilman Dick Baker, for instance, voted against an increase in Lincoln Electric System rates approved by the council Monday (commendably without a proposed automatic fuel cost pass-along provision). Baker understandably is concerned about the burden on the taxpayer-wage earner at a time of rising costs everywhere. Earlier this year, Baker also voted against the increase in water rates which is creating so much controversy today and is scheduled for review.

But the point is, those rate increases were pegged to continuing a level of services the council majority believed the people wanted.

It isn't enough to vote against salary increases or utility rate hikes because they represent a "burden" to the taxpayer. It is more responsible to take the lead, if economy is the issue, in pruning out jobs in which people are not doing anything productive, or to direct a cutback in the level of services. An elected official is not being realistic if he thinks that services can continue at the same level with existing revenues at a time when costs are rising. It isn't enough to merely say "no."

The Food Factor

There is more than a grain of truth in what Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz said this week about food role in diplomacy. "Far Better," said Butz, "that we exchange bushels . . . than bullets."

It is an oversimplification, of course. A kernel of corn or wheat is not the sole source of world peace. Indeed, the need for those products has caused wars in the past.

But we suspect there is some truth to the secretary's contention that expanded grain sales to the Russians have aided the cause of peace.

It is Butz' view that the potential sale of more American grain to the Soviet Union may be helping Henry Kissinger's efforts to bring peace to the Middle East. "The Russians are sitting on the sidelines (during the present negotiations), probably because they want more grain from us. Far better we exchange bushels with them than exchange bullets," Butz said.

It is not too difficult to imagine the Soviet wrecking crew churning up trouble in the Middle East, embarrassing Egypt, trying to disrupt the always volatile substance of Arab unity, pushing Syria into a bellicose position rather than the wait-and-see stance she has assumed, anything to frustrate the almost-successful negotiations for a temporary settlement between Egypt and Israel.

But, as Secretary Butz says, the wrecking crew prefers to sit this one out. And it is not too far-fetched to believe that one reason may be the Soviets' desire to buy more grain from the U.S. in a year of trouble with their own harvest. With criticism of the grain sales abroad running strong in the U.S., the Russians can see how delicate the situation is and they may feel that causing trouble in the Middle East — which might not gain them anything of lasting value — would jeopardize their short-range interests so far as grain requirements are concerned.

"We are finally learning how to use food as a factor in our new role as peace broker of the world," Butz said.

It can be a significant factor and grain producers can be proud of playing an important part in that role.

Attention Home facilities, I was absolutely shocked to see the damage and destruction caused by juveniles to a newly constructed building in a relative short period of time. The Topeka home administrator told us the reason for the major damage was due to the fact that inferior materials were used during construction and proper security measures were not even considered.

The administrator also told us another reason they ended up with their 'white elephant' was because the County Board and the Building Committee refused to accept the advice and guidance of people who had expertise in the field of correctional facilities and security type construction.

I am a firm believer that in most cases, practical experience far exceeds the so-called "text-book knowledge."

To confirm my thinking, Thursday, August 21, 1975, Lancaster County Attorney Ron Lahners, after being informed of the problems at the new Attention facility, requested the services of Mr. Vitek and Mr. Bob Parrott of the Nebraska Penal Complex to inspect the new Attention Home. During their tour of inspection, they pointed out the many defects that were present regarding security that would have to be corrected before the facility could be occupied. It has been estimated that the replacement of the insecure glass alone will run well over $10,000.00.

How unfortunate it is that the tour of inspection by these two well-qualified experts was not made going over the plans, rather than the completed building . . .

The Lincoln Star on August 22, 1975, ran a front-page story by Staff Writer Nancy Hicks, going into detail regarding the security problems at the newly constructed Lancaster County Juvenile Attention Home in Lincoln. In her story, Nancy Hicks quotes me as saying I was opposed to using a local architect on the building in favor of an outside firm with expertise in building correctional facilities.

During my five years as a member of the County Board, my voting record will show I have always been opposed to purchasing services or materials from suppliers outside of Lancaster County unless it was absolutely necessary. I firmly believe local suppliers who pay Lancaster County taxes should be given consideration over so-called outside suppliers.

Again in Nancy Hicks' story I am quoted as saying we wanted someone with expertise in the field. This statement is true; I was referring to local people such as officials from the Nebraska Penal Complex and the Lincoln City Jail. The architectural firm that designed and supervised the construction of the new Attention Home in question is a qualified and well-respected local firm. They, however, like most architectural firms throughout the county, do not specialize in the planning and design of criminal justice facilities.

I felt very strongly about seeking help and advice in addition to the architect's suggestions, from local people who had the expertise and experience in the field of security. This feeling was prompted by my visit to the Attention Home in Topeka, Kansas. In touring the Topeka

Ingredients For Tomato Surprise

NEW YORK — Several of us went to the country together this summer and grew tomato worms.

We were astounded, for we had not planned anything this ambitious at the start of our botanical work. None of us had much talent in the natural sciences, and if you had told us at the outset that we would discover the secret of growing tomato worms, it would have seemed as absurd as suggesting that we might discover a new planet.

Our project was quite modest. It called only for growing tomatoes. We bought six small plants from a farmer, placed them in the earth after the last frost date, placed a ridiculously large stake beside each plant, watered them occasionally and forgot about them.

After several weeks we noticed that the small plants had developed into a miniature dense green jungle of decidedly sinister appearance. We had not expected those small plants to burgeon so menacingly. They were at least five feet tall, extremely thick and shadowy and somehow seemed to defy human beings to come near them.

From time to time, one heard the death struggles of birds and cats issuing from deep inside the foliage. As the summer sun burnt down on this dark growth, however, delicate yellow blossoms developed small, green, wart-like excrescences which gradually became recognizable as developing tomatoes.

We assumed that the experiment was succeeding.

One sunny morning we awoke to an eerie spectacle. Overnight, the upper portion of what had been a leafy green jungle just the day before had been reduced to a stripped waste of leafless stalks. It was reminiscent of those photographs of old Civil War battlefields in which whole forests have been blasted to splinters by gunfire.

This was, of course, the work of the tomato worm. Close inspection turned up a large crop of tomato worms. Some of us were angry until we saw the significance of what we had accomplished.

We had started with a bare patch of earth and, from it, had created a fine, voracious crop of living organism. Everyone could grow tomatoes, and did. How many people could grow tomato worms?

We are still uncertain how we did it, but we believe the secret is to start with tomato plants. Last year we had day lilies in that location and did not create a single tomato worm. Before that we had petunias and did not grow any tomato worms that year either.

If my theory is correct — that tomato worms cannot be grown without first growing tomatoes

— the consequences for agriculture could be ponderous. Next year we could grow corn there and not have to worry about its being destroyed by tomato worms. By declining to grow tomatoes, the American farmer would no longer have to dread the possibility of his crop's being devastated by tomato worms.

This raises the question where the tomato worm lives when there are no tomatoes in its neighborhood. Does it lie in the earth for centuries waiting to be summoned to life in the sun the moment some passing gardener puts a tomato root into its bed?

Or do the tomato worms all congregate in some central location, like a union hiring hall, until they hear of tomatoes in the next county, and then crawl off to work? My own suspicion is that they spring from tomato seeds and grow right along with the tomatoes. Whatever the case, tomato worms apparently do not exist in active form until you put in tomatoes.

These days when all decent people want to live in brotherhood, or even wormhood, with nature, one feels compelled to find a purposeful role for his tomato worms.

We have tried turning ours loose on the crab grass, but the tomato worms refuse to eat it.

They lie there and sulk like spoiled children who refuse to eat their spinach. We tried placing a few on the dog to see if they would attack his fleas, but they seemed offended and rapidly dropped off and headed back toward the ruin of the tomato patch.

We want to live in harmony with nature, of course, and we are worried about what to do to make them happy once the last of the tomatoes has been eaten which will be any moment now.

Great advances in knowledge almost always create problems like this. The invention of the car led rapidly to the traffic jam and the energy crisis. The discovery how to grow tomato worms leads to bouts of despair about being hostile to nature because you cannot think of ways to keep the worms usefully employed.

Still, man is not stopped in his ceaseless forward progress. Next summer we will plant potatoes where the worms now thrive and, with luck, we may discover how to grow potato bugs.

Planning Key to Success

I have received a copy of the article written by Liane Guenther relative to our telephone interview in reference to the Public Safety Program here in Winston-Salem, North Carolina.

I would like to commend Ms. Guenther for the accuracy of this article even though it was done over the telephone. I would also like to agree with the statement of Fire Chief Dallas Johnson when he said that the previous experience with public safety failed because of "poor planning."

The real key to a public safety program is planning by the city.

Smaller Is Better

On Thursday afternoon, I took a coffee-maker to be repaired at the C & B Small Appliance Repair at 13th and O. On Saturday morning, the repaired appliance was delivered to our door. Such a pleasant surprise to have such prompt, satisfactory service. In addition, because it was under warranty, there was no charge.

Such a marked contrast to the service (?) of LT&T that same weekend. Our six-party line was without service Friday, Saturday, Sunday and most of Monday.

A small independent competitive businessman was thoughtful enough to give prompt service to two coffee-drinking adults. LT&T seems to have little worry, leaving 20 rural residents without telephones for four days.

Certainly proves that "Bigger Is Not Better."

Among The On-Lookers

In addition to Judge Richling, I suggest that all politicians responsible for the reinstatement of the death penalty gather at the Penal Complex on September 26 or at such time as 17-year-old, black, Rodney Lamar Stewart is executed.

Surely if they are able to adjudicate and legislate in such a bold fashion, their knees would stand firm and their eyes would not water as they watch Rodney pass on into eternity.

Is the state's key witness absolved from any wrong-doing or is it to be forgotten how this whole dreadful incident came about to begin with?

Too Much Trading Off

Another vitally important vindication of a legislative veto by our Governor Exon has surfaced, with the obvious rejection of area voters in Omaha to agree on a site for an Omaha "correctional institution."

I doubt that our governor will engage in a tongue-in-cheek, I-told-you-so reaction which is more than justified, but it's always nice to see that which is best for the people win over the tendency to bow to vested interests and log-rolling politicians, out to divide the spoils, coming out first.

We have already had far too much trading off between Lincoln and Omaha, on the higher educational front, by legislators and interested businessmen, than the poor taxpayer can afford.

Both Sides Of The Fence

From The Star editorial, "A Run On The Energy Bank" (Aug. 20):

"The world's tallest smokestack" at Anaconda blends into the scenery at first view but from the right aspect it is outrageously out of place, like a tinker-toy creation. But maybe such eyesores are all the more noticeable because they are surrounded by such incredible beauty . . . But as we said before, it is still possible to get away from the scars."

It would seem that these remarks could apply just as well to the proposed sculptures along I-80.

How can people change sides so fast when they condemn a smokestack or a spoils pile from a mine, and still accept a junk pile along I-80, where people can't get away from it?

Perhaps a fence?

Considering Both Sides

There has been much publicity recently about the "rights" of girls to play football or the boys to play on the girls' volleyball team, etc.

I would like to know about the "rights" of the student who is not interested in sports or physical education of any kind. Why can't all sports and P.E. be strictly elective so each student can choose his sport or none, whichever he wishes.

Group showering is also a violation of the students' right to privacy.

As long as the schools are going to have to re-do the whole system to accommodate the rights of the interested, they should also take a look at the other side — the UN-interested

Police Strike

SAN FRANCISCO — This beautiful city has been skirting the brink of really bad trouble with a police and firemen's strike opening the way to a breakdown of law and order.

Except for the drama of the police strike and the brief walkout of the firemen, the situation here is a familiar one: deterioration of services and the quality of life as the tax take falls behind constantly rising demands augmented by the upward spiral of inflation.

Mayor Joseph Alioto held out against the mounting pressure of the County Board of Supervisors demanding intervention by the National Guard or the State Patrol to save the city. The board, with competing authority in the same contiguous area, fired off a telegram to Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. in Sacramento asking for immediate help. Alioto insisted they had no right to do this.

In the end he used his emergency powers to give the public employees the 13% increase they asked. This caused an immediate outcry over the inflationary consequences of such a big pay hike.

To have sent in the state patrol or the National Guard might have touched off a conflict with the striking policemen, most of whom carried some arms as they walked the picket line. The result could have been internecine warfare in the city's streets.

As his restraint in the current drama demonstrated, Brown, in his short time in office since his election in 1974, has become one of the most paradoxical figures in American political life.

Instead taking a hard look at the whole structure of government handouts, top-heavy state payrolls and the squeeze on the taxpayer, he has called for a pause and perhaps an overhaul.

As remarkable evidence of the change, Brown recently held a meeting with 15 of the state's leading industrialists to discuss how to cut some of the red tape that has been an obstacle, according to the industrialists, in attracting new industry to California.

A committee of seven has been formed that will meet with Brown next month to consider how to clear away what the industrialists feel is a thicket of government restriction impeding business development. Anyone predicting this development last January would have been regarded as a candidate for a lunatic asylum.

This, it is hardly necessary to add, is no answer to the crisis of San Francisco. While the police strike was on, a delegation of elderly women testified before a legislative committee in Sacramento to the "living hell" of the city's streets.

While the pay raise bought time, it is surely a stop-gap. The precedent of a police strike has a sinister meaning for all cities.

Things To Come

PREMIER RABIN

JERUSALEM — Like everybody else in the Middle East, Israelis disagree sharply about the shape of things to come. Among those I asked to speculate about the condition of this region 20 years hence were Premier Rabin, Defense Minister Peres and Gen. Ariel Sharon, who commanded the African invasion and encirclement of the Egyptian army that wound up the stalemate Yom Kippur War of 1973.

Speaking with deliberate hesitation, Rabin thought peace would prevail but that in two decades "instability and hatred" might still be evident in the area. He hoped, nevertheless, for some kind of "confederation" between Arab-dominated Jordan and Jewish-dominated Israel by then, with joint condominium over the West Bank in between, a Palestinian-Arab region once part of Jordan, now held by Israel.

Sharon, who tried his hand at politics but was squeezed out of the Knesset to hold his reserve command of an armored corps, is now Rabin's special defense adviser. He is far more pessimistic than either the premier or defense minister. He foresees war again — and much sooner than five years from now. But he also foresees another Israeli victory and a vague federative scheme of a Jewish-Arab Palestinian confederation similar to Rabin's conjectures.

By far the most optimistic vision was that of Peres. He said: "I believe that in two decades throwing Israel into the sea. But today (Egyptian President) Sadat talks of a sea of peace. "We see a mutual distaste developing between the Arabs and the Russians. Dialectics sometimes work against the Russians. They can be invited into a country and then welcomed by that country. But a third dialectical stage can come — a growing desire to get rid of them. The Russians may look on themselves as liberators but other people look on them as foreigners."

For Rabin, Moscow is a source of danger, seeking to maintain tension in the Middle East and to encourage difficulties in the flow and price of oil for the industrial free world. He adds: "Unless that world is more unified in its position by action of consumers vis-a-vis producers, it will be eroded. To relate this to the Arab-Israeli conflict is an illusion. The real issue is the ability of consumer nations to withstand pressure from the producers. That issue will decide the fate of Western society."

"Time is on the side of peace. You can't escape from this. But I am not convinced formal peace must precede the establishment of agreed frontiers and a community. On the contrary, the economic approach often provides a better beginning than the political one. You can have open bridges" (as Israel has with Jordan) before final borders are arranged; and that is what I would like to see.

"Some people are preoccupied with the immediately pressing issues. For the time being there are changes in expression, not changes in relationships. The Arabs used to talk about

Disaster Requests Fewer This Year

By DOMINICK COSTELLO
Farm Editor

Nebraska and the nation as a whole have had fewer crop related disasters on individual farms in 1975 than in 1974.

Paul Sindt, head of the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) which handles the farmer crop disaster program, said he doubts this year's total will be anywhere near last year's requests for aid from farmers.

"We had a total of 50,400 last year. On this date last year we had 18,152 requests for help compared to 6,733 so far this year. The state is a lot better off than it was a year ago in terms of crop prospects," he said.

Sindt said his office was gaining experience in getting the requests for field inspection and disaster payments processed.

"We had processed only 2,688 of the 11,557 requests by this time last year. We have processed 2,930 of the 3,207 requests we have received so far, and have sent out many payments to wheat producers already," he said.

Requests for wheat payments were double last year, but corn payments seem lower and very few requests for milo disaster payments have been made," he said. "I think the irrigated corn will be much better than last year. Dryland milo looks better than last year and dryland corn, while damaged, is not as bad as last year," Sindt said.

Surveys of cornfields for the disaster payments show more corn present than last year even in damaged fields. "Last year we found from five to eight bushels of corn to an acre. This year we are finding from 20 to 30 bushels per acre in many fields. Some are nearly devoid of corn, but even in the disaster fields we are better off than a year ago in most cases," he said.

The program is based on individual farms, not on a county-wide basis. There is no requirement for a declaration of a disaster area by the secretary of agriculture, the governor or the President under these farm program payments.

The program covers feed grains and wheat, not soybeans.

Sindt said the field surveys found crops ranging from near perfect to near disaster, but there was a much better crop prospect for the state overall than last year.

"It is just a wild guess, but I doubt that we will pay out more than 20% of what we paid out last year. The crop is that much better this year," he said.

Nationally, the number of farmers filing for the program has fallen 35% from a year ago. As of Aug. 7 the national office had processed 75,420 applications compared to 115,627 on the same date a year ago.

ASCS, which administers the program, made disaster payments of $552.4 million to 318,000 farmers during the 1974 program year.

McCollister Attacks Wheat Price Controls

Sidney (AP) — Attempts to control wheat prices by limiting exports are "the most serious violation of civil rights that has come down the pike in a long time," according to Rep. John Y. McCollister, R-Neb., said.

"The grain doesn't belong to the government, it belongs to the farmers," the Omaha lawmaker said. "Unless we are ready to stand still for government appropriation of private property, we can't even think about using export policy to control prices."

McCollister is seeking the Republican nomination for the U.S. Senate seat now held by retiring Sen. Roman Hruska.

Speaking to local civic groups, McCollister hit union attempts to boycott the loading of grain bound for the Soviet Union.

"If George Meany is really concerned about food prices he should start a little closer to home. Transportation, processing, middleman profit and all the other components of food prices

2 Accidents Send Death Toll To 223

By The Associated Press

Two Nebraskans lost their lives in traffic mishaps Tuesday, raising the state's 1975 highway toll to 223, compared with 254 on this date last year.

A Hooper man, Paul D. Neuhalfen, 40, died when his semitrailer truck was struck by a Union Pacific Railroad locomotive at a crossing in Waterloo, Douglas County authorities said.

The engineer, James H. Drake, 56, of North Platte, told investigators that he was on his way from Omaha to Fremont at the time of accident.

Drake said the train was doing about 55 miles per hour when he saw Neuhalfen's truck start across the tracks in front of him.

Drake said he sounded his warning horns and the crossing warnings were operating, but Neuhalfen apparently ignored both. Witnesses to the crash agreed with Drake, officials said.

It was the 13 traffic fatality of the year involving a train.

An Ithaca woman was killed and her husband was seriously injured when their car slammed into a grain truck at the intersection of two Saunders County roads about seven miles east of Ceresco.

Saunders County Atty. Curt Bromm identified the fatality as Mrs. Frances Moravec, 74.

Bromm said she died instantly when she was thrown from the auto.

Her husband, Frank, 78, was taken to a Lincoln hospital, where he was listed in serious condition.

Bromm said investigators were trying to determine whether Moravec or his wife was driving the car.

The truck driver, Keith Knoke, 28, of Lincoln, was not injured.

Crop Contests' Deadline Sept. 1

Sept. 1 is the deadline for growers to enter the Nebraska crop production contests, according to Duane Foote, secretary of the Nebraska Grain Improvement Association. Competition is open in corn, grain sorghum and soybeans, with the deadline for wheat entries already past. Foote said entry blanks and rules may be obtained at any Nebraska county Extension office.

Murray Lockers also was top bidder on the grand champion sheep and swine. ## Officer Escapes Without Scratch

Omaha (AP) — Patrolman George Dugan is alive and well and it's almost a miracle. Responding to a fight at an Omaha bar, Dugan was confronted by a man who pointed a gun at his head and pulled the trigger. But the weapon failed to fire and the man was arrested. Police reports indicated no determination on why the gun failed to fire. Police said it was loaded and second round was in the chamber.

Omaha Police Probe Iowa Woman's Death

Omaha (AP) — Omaha police are investigating the death of a Malvern, Iowa, woman.

The body of Mary Jo Smith, 19, was found Monday in a roadside ditch in the southern edge of the city.

Miss Smith, who apparently came to Omaha several months ago, had been run over, and possibly dragged by an auto, authorities said.

Acting Douglas County Coroner James Keenan ordered an autopsy to determine the cause of death, and police began checking a portion of a hubcap found near a point where Miss Smith's purse was found Sunday.

The purse, which was turned over to LaVista police, led to the identification of the body.

The ensuing investigation showed that the owner of the purse was arrested on petty larceny charges in Shenandoah, Iowa.

Mary's parents Mr. and Mrs. A.J. Smith of Malvern, declined to discuss their adopted daughter's life.

However, police records show that Miss Smith was a patient at the Nebraska Psychiatric Institute (NPI) from May 20 through June 12 of this year. Marilyn Majors, a vocational rehabilitation counselor at the institute, said Mary was placed on prescription drugs while at the facility.

School officials in Malvern declined to discuss Mary's educational background.

However, other records show that Mary attended the Malvern schools through December 1973, when she transferred to York High School. She graduated from York in 1974.

Omaha police said Mary worked at an Omaha hamburger stand for a few days, and that she was evicted from her Southside apartment last Saturday.

Authorities said they were questioning a number of men. Miss Smith apparently met while at NPI. Some of those being questioned were also from Offutt Air Force Base in Bellevue, police said.

Rangers Rescue Nebraskan

Moose, Wyo. (AP) — Three employees of the Grand Teton Lodge Co., including a Nebraskan, were reported in good condition Tuesday after being rescued from near the top of the 12,594-foot high Mount Moran.

They were trapped for two days and two nights in Grand Teton Park by a late summer snowstorm.

Park Public Affairs Director Tony Bevinetto said a team of rangers brought the three down late Monday from the rugged mountain in the Teton Range.

The men included William Growney, 21, of Omaha. Others were Terry Thompson, 21, of Columbus, Ohio and Mike Collantine, 20, of Milwaukee, Wis.

'Hairy' Controversy Subsides At School

North Bend (AP) — Things were going smoothly at the North Bend Junior-Senior High School Tuesday after a "hairy" flare up Monday.

Lloyd E. Witthuhn of North Bend, whose son was one of seven barred from opening day classes Monday because they violated the school's policy on hair length, showed up in front of the school Tuesday morning with a small group of supporters to protest the policy. There were no incidents, and classes proceeded in normal fashion, Henry Nelson, the school's principal said.

However, Witthuhn is threatening to go to court.

Nelson said the "majority" of those students barred from Monday's classes were in school Tuesday because they had gotten haircuts or had shaved sideburns down into compliance. The others, he said, will not be able to attend classes until they comply with the school's codes governing the length of hair and sideburns.

Witthuhn said the policy "deprives students of their constitutionally guaranteed right to an education."

Witthuhn said he collected 34 signatures on a petition protesting the student dismissals, and that he planned to get more signatures before taking his arguments to U.S. District Court in Omaha.

Nelson said the school's policy on hair has been in use for the past few years.

The policy says, "Sideburns that measure two fingers below the bottom of the ear or as wide as you can grow them will be tolerated. Length of hair on back of the neck shall be above the collar when a shirt and tie are worn. This is a minimum. Coaches may wish to supplement the above. Boys whose haircuts do not conform to this standard will not be allowed to enter school when classes begin Aug. 25."

Nelson said the school's policy does not deny a student's right to education.

"They've (the students) made the decision" to violate the policy, said Nelson, "It's their prerogative."

The principal also pointed out that those students barred from classes Monday constituted a very small minority of the 219 boys enrolled in the school this year.

Nelson said he believes the school board and the majority of residents in this community of some 1,400 persons are behind the policy.

Monday's dismissals were not the first. According to Nelson, the school has barred students because of their hair length before, and the students have complied.

Nelson suggested that the barred students take their complaints to the school's student council, which meets regularly with the school board to discuss grievances.

Judges Picked To Decide Fate Of Convicted Man

Omaha (AP) — Three District Court judges have been appointed to a panel that will decide the fate of a South Dakota man convicted of murder.

Paul W. White, chief justice of the Nebraska Supreme Court, has appointed Judges Merritt C. Warren of Creighton and Herbert A. Ronin of Lincoln to sit with Judge Samuel Caniglia of Omaha. The panel will decide the sentence of John Rust of Mitchell, S.D.

Earlier this month, a Douglas County District Court jury found

Rust guilty of first-degree murder in the slaying of Michael Kellogg of Omaha.

Kellogg, a civilian, was shot to death as he tried to aid police in the apprehension of two suspects in a grocery store robbery.

Caniglia, the presiding judge during the jury trial, requested the appointment of the two other judges, and the three will now decide whether Rust will get the death sentence or life in prison.

The panel will hear prosecution sentence recommendations and defense rebuttals during a hearing next month.

Oil Output Given

Parking Garage Halts 'Honor' Plan

Omaha (AP) — The public parking garage in the city-county building in downtown Omaha has gone off the honor parking system — at least temporarily.

But attendant Tom Kozusko says many motorists who park there are still confused about the operation.

Kozusko said the original plan was to have an attendant check the lot only four or five times a day. Motorists were to be trusted to pay correct amounts to a large machine filled with slots.

Since then, he said, the Denver-based Parking Company of America has changed plans and Kozusko will work full time at least until parkers are familiar with the system.

City councilman Jerry Hassett says he is dissatisfied with the operation and said it "just isn't businesslike."

Hassett said, "The garage should be operated by the city. Had I known the company wouldn't have management personnel in Omaha, I wouldn't have voted to give it the contract."

At the lot, drivers pay when they get out of the car, inserting the money into the slot corresponding to your parking stall. The driver must estimate how long he'll be. If you park longer than you've paid for, Kozusko puts an envelope on the windshield noting how much is owed.

The envelope includes a notation that a parker who fails to pay for a second time will receive a $5 ticket from police.

Really? "Not really," Kozusko said. "That's on there to discourage people from not paying."

Kozusko said the system has worked elsewhere, and will work in Omaha when people get used to it. One complaint was that there is no automatic coin changer, but he said it has been ordered.

Mayor's Budget Veto Sustained In Omaha

Omaha (AP) — The Omaha City Council failed Tuesday afternoon in its attempt to override Mayor Edward Zorinsky's veto of the council-passed, 1976 city budget.

Zorinsky had proposed a budget of $83,093,989. His budget does not call for a hike in property taxes.

However, several members of the council, most notably Council President Robert Cunningham, voiced opposition to the mayor's proposal, saying it would mean a reduction in city services and in employees.

Zorinsky said the city must live within its means, or end up like New York City, and promised to veto any budget figure higher than his proposal. Last week, the council narrowly approved a budget calling for about $1.65 million more than recommended by the mayor, and as promised, Zorinsky nixed it.

The council-passed budget would have raised property taxes about 1.5 mills to the legal maximum.

The council passed its own budget proposal on a 4-3 vote, but the council needed five votes to override Zorinsky's veto.

The vote on the override was 4-3. A short time later, the council approved Zorinsky's budget on a 6-1 vote, Cunningham being the lone dissenter.

CSC Crew Finds Prehistoric Bones

Chadron (AP) — An apparent sink hole that trapped a variety of prehistoric animals an estimated 20,000-40,000 years ago, has been partially excavated near the south edge of Hot Springs, S.D.

Personnel from Chadron State College did the digging. Officials said some large bones from mammoths were unearthed.

Dr. Larry Agenbroad, professor of earth science at CSC, said numerous mammoth ribs and vertebrae were found along with a shoulder blade, a pelvic bone, a tusk, a lower jaw, and a number of smaller bones.

The relics were cast, and removed to Chadron State for further study and stabilization, but will eventually be returned to Hot Springs for display.

Aganbroad said at least four and possibly six mammoths died in the pit. Also found at the site were bear teeth, bones from a dire wolf (coyote), a camel and a peccary.

The site was initially discovered last summer by construction workers who were planning to extend a street through the site. The street extension plans are still on the drawing board, but the city has agreed to delay the work until the bones can be removed.

There is a possibility that the road work may be scrapped in favor of a permanent facility for the display of the bones.

Higher Production Costs May Increase Milk Prices

Omaha (AP) — Mid-America Dairymen, Inc., the cooperative that supplies raw milk to local dairies, will raise the price of milk for bottling about 5¢ a gallon effective Monday.

The result will probably be higher retail milk prices.

Robert Koehler, western operations marketing manager for Mid-America, said milk producers must raise prices to bring their return more in line with production costs.

Since June there have been two price increases and the one next week will represent a 10¢ a gallon increase since June, Koehler said.

He said that while feed costs have risen, Mid-America has been charging less for milk this year than last.

"Only the most efficient farmers can meet the cost of production today," he said.

He said some are leaving the dairy business and that Grade A milk production is down 4% from last year. The decline in production and increase in consumer demand is helping push prices up, Koehler said.

Marvin Vinsonhaler, manager of Hinky Dinky, 25th and O, said he has "no knowledge of a price increase" in milk affecting the Omaha and Lincoln Hinky Dinky stores.

Elmer Harder, Omaha, public relations director of area Safeway Stores, said no decision has been made on possible retail milk increases, but he feels if raw milk prices increase, the increase will have to be passed on to the consumer.

Fishermen Find Body Floating In Missouri River

Council Bluffs, Iowa (AP) — The Pettawatomie County Sheriff's office said Tuesday the badly decomposed body of a man was found floating in the Missouri River.

They said the body was discovered late Monday on the Iowa side of the Missouri River by two Bellevue fishermen.

Sheriff Lynn Ford said there was no identification on the body nor does it match the description of any persons reported missing.

The sheriff said because of the condition of the corpse, a partial autopsy will be made. He said authorities have no idea how long the body had been in the water, but an investigation into the death is continuing.

Frederick Wells, Lincoln Patron Of Arts, Dies At 81

Frederick N. Wells, long-standing leader of the Lincoln business community and patron of the arts, died Tuesday morning at the age of 81.

He served on many civic and business organization boards, and became known as "Mr. Art of Nebraska" for his promotion of the fine arts.

Wells served without pay as executive director of the Lincoln Foundation from 1959-70, during which time the foundation's assets grew from $200,000 to more than 2 million.

When he retired from his executive position with the foundation in 1970, he was named a "benefactor," a title previously reserved for those who had contributed $25,000.

Wells served the Nebraska Art Association in many capacities for more than 35 years. An NAA dinner honoring him for his contributions was held in 1969 in the Sheldon Art Gallery — a building he helped plan as a member of the Gallery building committee.

In 1970, the Lincoln Kiwanis Club presented the Kiwanis Medal for Distinguished Service to Wells. The award cited him for his extraordinary achievements as a public servant and community leader.

Wells' father, Edward R. Wells, came to Nebraska in 1897 and established the Wells Shoe Store. The store expanded rapidly, and in 1907 a partnership with F. E. Frost was formed, from which the present Wells & Frost Co. emerged.

Wells graduated from the University of Nebraska in 1918. He was interested in journalism, and worked for the Lincoln Morning Journal for three years. During WWI he served in France as a member of the Signal Corps.

Wells returned to Lincoln and entered the family business in 1917 as vice president. After his father's death in 1935, he assumed the presidency, which he held until his semi-retirement in 1955.

Wells served on the Nebraska Hall of Fame Commission, and the Capitol Murals Commission.

He was one of the first members appointed to the Nebraska Arts Council.

Besides his activities on behalf of the state, Wells was an active member of the Lincoln Symphony Board, the Madonna Home advisory board, and the Family Service Board in Lincoln.

He was a vice president of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce, and its director for three terms.

Wells helped found the Community Arts Council in Lincoln, and also the Community Savings Stamp Co. He was chairman of the first City Traffic Commission.

He was a long-time member of the Lincoln Unitarian Church.

Survivors include his wife,

Wells... businessman

Anne, a son, John of Lincoln; and a daughter, Mrs. Catherine Newman of Aurora.

Services will be held at 11 a.m. Thursday, at St. Paul United Methodist Church. Burial will be at Wyuka Cemetery in Lincoln.

Opinion Delays State Offices Consolidation

Acquisition of a state office building in North Platte has stumbled over an attorney general's opinion, it was learned Tuesday.

Sen. Myron Rumery of North Platte acknowledged that a legal opinion has delayed the state's plans to move offices into the old North Platte Hospital building.

Without citing details, Rumery said the problems posed are "not serious" and added that he is certain the 1976 Legislature will make any needed corrections.

"It seems the bill isn't written correctly," he said. "I'm having some further work done on it. I don't want to say anymore until then."

The Legislature appropriated $500,000 to purchase the hospital building to consolidate state offices. The hospital, owned by the Great Plains Medical Center, will move to a new structure shortly.

"I doubt it holds the purchase up for a year," he said.

High Court To Consider Execution

The appeals process began Tuesday for a 17-year-old Omaha youth convicted of first degree murder and sentenced to the electric chair.

The Nebraska Supreme Court Tuesday received the transcript of Rodney Stewart's trial and postponed Stewart's 11:30 a.m., Sept. 26 execution date until the case can be heard.

The appeal and review is automatic under the state's new capital punishment law.

Should Stewart's death sentence be upheld, the youth would be the first Nebraskan executed since Charles Starkweather's execution in 1959.

A Douglas County jury earlier this month convicted Stewart of killing Thomas Ehlers with premeditation and shooting Daniel Evans with intent to kill.

The incident occurred during a sale of marijuana. Evidence in the trial indicated that Stewart had premeditated the killings by bringing gasoline to the sale site so he could set fire to the pair's van and hide the crime.

The Supreme Court's September docket is already filled, and written briefs will have to be filed before oral arguments can be scheduled.

In his defense, Stewart claimed he thought Evans was reaching for a gun when he shot the pair. In sentencing Stewart, Judge Theodore Richling said, "Age cannot excuse such heartless, diabolical conduct."

Richling refused to defer Stewart's case to juvenile court where the death sentence would not be imposed.

A pre-sentence investigation report determined that Stewart knows right from wrong and the nature of his act.

John Fahey, a public defender handling Stewart's case, plans to attack the existing death penalty law, enacted after the U.S. Supreme Court ruled the previous law unconstitutional, as cruel and unusual punishment which is banned by the constitution.

Youth Held On Omaha Murder Charge

Omaha (AP) — Municipal Court Judge Fred Montag ordered a 17-year-old Omahan held without bond on a charge of first degree murder.

Officers said Dwayne D. Bennett had been charged in the slaying of 76-year-old Maria Gibilisco.

She was stabbed to death in her home July 20. Judge Montag has scheduled a preliminary hearing in the case for Sept. 9.

Bennett was arrested last week in Seattle, Wash. He was on furlough from the Kearney Boys' Training Center at the time of the slaying. Police said he failed to return to Kearney after the furlough.

That's A GIGANTIC
Bean!

WARNSHOLZ . . . measures bean for photographer, who then reads the tape for Warnsholz, who is blind.

By LIANE GUENTHER
Star Staff Writer

Once upon a time, E. D. Warnsholz ordered a handful of "New Guinea beans" through an advertisement in the National Elks Club Magazine.

For $3, Warnsholz got 11 bean-shaped seeds, which may not seem like such a bargain, even considering inflation and all.

The ad warned the beans would grow "terribly big," but who believes everything they read these days?

Well, Warnsholz is about to eat his words — or better yet, his bean — if he can find 30 or 40 friends to help.

Not to imply the three seeds he planted were "magic" or anything, but Warnsholz has a backyard full of vines and . . .

Hanging from a vine-covered trellis is a 35-inch long, 23-inch around "bean" that tips the scales at almost 50 pounds.

"It ought to solve some of the world's food problems if we could cultivate them," Warnsholz quipped.

It's a conversation piece, to say the least.

Star Farm Editor Dominick Costello suggested Warnsholz enter his crop in State Fair open class bean competition.

Wayne Whitney, University of Nebraska-Lincoln extension agriculturist, confirmed the existence of such beans, which he said can be used like cucumbers when small. "It's one of those strange things people plant to get their names in the paper," Whitney said.

But Emery Nelson, Lancaster County extension agent, said he has never heard of New Guinea beans weighing more than a couple of pounds apiece.

"I think it's a squash-type thing," he said.

At any rate, Warnsholz's bean has become quite a curiosity around the 2100 Euclid area.

"I've had a number of neighbors come over and take pictures. They can't believe it either."

It also makes for droll dinner invitations. "Come on over for dinner. We're having baked bean."

In fact, that's exactly what Warnsholz is trying to convince his friends to do.

The ad said they're "nutritious" and "delicious" boiled, baked or broiled.

"We can always start a bean soup kitchen," Warnsholz decided.

Together, his two plants begot four beans, in all weighing about 80 pounds.

Of the eight bean seeds Warnsholz palmed off on friends and neighbors, none have grown as gigantic as the one in his yard. The average is only 10 to 15 pounds.

To say the least, the general counsel for the Dept. of Public Welfare is tickled "pinkish-orange" — about the same shade as his bean.

"I think we got a bargain," he said.

Jewel Thief Proud Of His Work

Anamosa, Iowa (AP) — Frank Hohimer brags about the diamonds he's stolen in nearly 300 burglaries like some fishermen brag about their catch.

"I know Liz Taylor's diamonds better than Liz knows them herself," he says. "I can reel off jewels owned by millionaires all over the country and tell you exactly what they're worth."

Hohimer has served six of three concurrent 10-year federal sentences for transporting stolen goods across state lines. He is eligible for parole from the Iowa State Reformatory next year.

He escaped from the Bridgeport, Conn., Correctional Center in 1971, but surrendered to the FBI to seek protection from the Mafia after he told leaders he wanted to quit stealing and they set him up to be killed, he says.

"I was bringing in too much money for them to let me go. I was one of the most consistent jewel thieves around," Hohimer said, contending he was an "$8 to $10 million-a-year burglar."

Hohimer says his career as a cat burglar started when he served 11 years in Illinois prisons on "a bum rap" and met a man known as "Oklahoma Joe," a famous jewel thief serving time for murdering his wife.

"I became vicious, bitter and cold when I did those years for nothing," Hohimer said. "I learned everything I could from Oklahoma, then came out of prison swearing I'd never work an honest day in my life."

Now, he's 10 hours away from a college degree in nutrition and plans to go into the restaurant business when he's released.

Hohimer boasts that he was worth $1.5 million at one time in his career, "and I won't be destitute when I get out."

"I used to wear $300 suits and dine in the best places. I had a watch with 78 diamonds in it when I came here, but the authorities made me send it home," Hohimer said.

He says he has permanently retired from crime. His second book, to be published next year, lists ways to safeguard homes against burglars.

"I know some good ways to stop amateur burglars, but there's no way on earth you can keep a professional out," he says. "I'd bet 20 more years of my life in prison that you couldn't rig up an alarm that would stop me."

Hohimer was on the FBI's 10 most wanted list between 1967 and 1969 and became even more prominent in 1973 when he was named as a suspect in the murder of Valerie Percy, daughter of Illinois Senator Charles Percy.

There was not enough evidence to indict him in the still unsolved case and Hohimer vehemently denies any part in the crime.

"I've never been involved in murders — that's not my bag," he said. "I'm sure a professional burglar didn't do it. Most of us just aren't interested in that kind of thing."

DR. STEWART . . . examines 'Muffi' with husband-partner Dr. Strand.

Woman Vet Enters 'Man's' Profession

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

Veterinary medicine is "still a man's profession," but not an impossibility for a determined woman.

And Lincolnite Dr. Jeanne Stewart is a determined woman.

"I can't remember a time when I didn't want to be a veterinarian," Dr. Stewart recalls. And her desire was strong enough to not discourage her after being rejected by four schools the first year she made applications.

For this reason, she went ahead and completed four years at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln where she received her baccalaureate degree in animal science in 1971.

She was accepted at Iowa State School of Veterinary Medicine the second year she made application. She had applied to five schools the second year.

High Cost Deters

Because of the high cost of preparing for the profession, she said she could understand why schools want to be sure that those accepted really want to go into veterinary medicine.

Since Nebraska doesn't have a veterinary school, it contracts with certain states to accept Nebraska students and pay the out-of-state tuition plus a set per-student fee for each Nebraskan accepted.

However, getting into veterinary school wasn't a struggle for Dr. Stewart's husband, Dr. Gregg Strand of Marshalltown, Iowa.

Dr. Strand, who was married to Dr. Stewart last week, was accepted on his first application after two years of college which he completed in five quarters.

At the age of 23, Dr. Strand was the youngest member of his graduating class, while others had already received their master's degrees before gaining acceptance into veterinary medicine.

Woman's Profession

Although Dr. Stewart would like to see veterinary medicine become more of a "woman's profession" she and her husband point to some of the problems.

"There is some strength a woman doesn't have," she said, noting that many farmers still expect large animal veterinarians to "catch an animal and hold it" if necessary.

And some of the more conservative communities in the Midwest are reluctant to accept a woman as a veterinarian for large animals, they say.

Because of the state of the economy, there isn't as great a demand in the rural areas for large animal veterinarians, Dr. Strand said, noting that many times a farmer cannot afford to pay for the services of a veterinarian to save, for example, a litter of pigs.

Because of the popularity of small animal pets, the demand for veterinarians in this area is much greater, they said. However, it takes time for any young veterinarian to build up a practice.

"Even if you're starting in an established clinic, it takes a long time before you get a good percentage of the business," Dr. Strand said.

Long-Range Plans

Although their long-range plans call for opening their own clinic for both large and small animals, "we have nothing now but our education," Dr. Stewart said.

Jobs are available if one isn't choosy about location, they said, but finding placement for two veterinarians in one location was somewhat more difficult.

Dr. Strand pointed out that most clinics are a three-person operation, and it is very unlikely that a clinic would be seeking two veterinarians simultaneously.

For this year, the couple will start their careers in September in separate small animal clinics in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

Their schedule will include night calls, but the clinics for which they'll be working have arranged so that they'll be on call the same nights and, therefore, have the same nights free.

"But if we go into a clinic ourselves, we may not have much time to ourselves," they say, adding that this is what one must expect in any area of medicine.

His Cellar Features 'Pinups' Of Hurricanes

Niles, Ill. (AP) — Like many another man, Dave Farmer has a line of pinups in his basement recreation room. Well, not exactly like many another man.

"Blanche is my favorite — perfectly formed, classic features, and that eye right in the middle. Beautiful!" explains 46-year-old Farmer.

Eye in the middle? That's right, Farmer's pinups — Blanche, Denise, Carlotta, Elinore, Hillary — are hurricanes he's photographed with the aid of weather satellites and $68 worth of homemade equipment put together with one of his three sons, 16-year-old George.

Farmer, an engineer with International Harvester, started his hobby two years ago but got all the equipment working only last fall.

Included in his equipment are old pipe fittings, window screens, aluminum clothesline wire, old motors, parts of an old television set, an FM receiver "once used by my wife to listen to opera" and an ancient Associated Press wirephoto machine.

The hobby has changed Farmer's life-style since the best tracking time of the weather satellites is when they are passing over the Midwest in the morning or at night.

"I'm at it from about 6:30 p.m. to around 10 p.m., and sometimes again at 5 a.m. — I'm tied to satellites," he said.

Farmer said his wife doesn't mind the pinups.

"Marian takes it all in stride," he said. "Her only request is for me to keep the tracking bleeps down to a dull roar so she can sleep in the mornings."

If Morris Bites Again, Slap His Back

The Lincoln Star
Wednesday, August 27, 1975

Lifescape

DEAR ABBY: I'm going with a wonderful guy named Morris. He's a terrific fellow, but he has one fault. When he kisses me, he gets carried away and bits my lips. After an evening with Morris, my lips are bruised and raw — sometimes they even bleed!

My mother keeps asking me what's the matter with my lips, and I keep making up excuses. (They're "chapped.")

Will you please tell me how I can get Morris to take it easy when he kisses me? I have told him a dozen times not to be so rough, but he forgets. This is no put-on.

SORE LIPS

DEAR SORE: When Morris "forgets" and gets rough, give him a good klop on the back to remind him to take it easy. And keep it up until he's conditioned.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 34-year-old widow who fell in love with a married man. (I'll call him "Rex.") He has two children. We've been seeing each other for 18 months, and I love him dearly. Rex says he loves me and needs me, and as soon as he's financially able to swing it, he'll divorce his wife and marry me. Rex still lives with his wife, but claims that he has had nothing to do with her since he met me. Here is the part that just about drove me to suicide: He told me yesterday that his wife is now pregnant! He swears it isn't his, but how can I be sure?

I have an 8-year-old son who worships Rex, and if I were to break it off with him, it would be almost as though my son were losing another father because Rex treats him like a son.

How much longer should I give Rex?

LOVES HIM

DEAR LOVES: The advice from here is to say goodbye now and to tell Rex that you don't want to see his face until he is a free man.

In the meantime, you'd better start planning your life without him because as I see it, that is what you will have to do eventually.

DEAR ABBY: This is for the man whose wife is driving him up the wall by her constant use of "you know" in every sentence.

Rejoice! At least "you know" implies that you can comprehend what is being said.

We have a brother who ends almost every sentence with "understand?" This leaves one with the feeling that his mental capacity to follow a simple conversation is somewhat in doubt.

Far better "you know" than "understand?"

HIS SISTER, UNDERSTAND? DEAR SISTER: I understand, you know.

DEAR ABBY: I remarried a few years ago. My husband and I were both born in Canada, but our parents' nationalities are different.

Whenever we go out among his family or friends, he speaks in the tongue of his parents, although they can all speak English well enough.

I can't understand their language, so I sit for hours like a dummy, while they laugh and chatter away.

I think it is rude for them to talk in a language that I can't understand. All they say to me is "Hello" and "Goodbye."

I have told my husband how I feel about this, and he says I am silly.

Am I wrong to feel out of place and hurt? And have you any suggestions for me?

OUT OF IT AT 40

DEAR OUT: You say your husband's friends and family can all "speak English well enough" but persist in talking a language that is foreign to you when you are in their presence. If none speaks to you in English, you're being deliberately tuned out. If I were you, I'd stay home.

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago, my husband got himself a hairpiece that improves his appearance 100 per cent. The problem is that he wears it only about two-thirds of the time.

I think it's ridiculous for a man to wear a hairpiece all week to work and then to leave it off on the weekend. That's what Horace does. He knows that I want him to wear it all the time, so just to punish me for something, he refuses to wear it to an important function.

When Horace takes a mind to go without his hairpiece, no amount of begging, crying or pleading can make him change his mind.

Abby, how can I get him to wear his hairpiece all the time? BITTER HALF

DEAR BITTER: You can't. But if you stopped making such a fuss when he refuses to wear it, he'll probably wear it more.

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to your column item about the person who loved to travel, but who invariably had a seat next to some longwinded bore.

I pretend I don't speak English!

It is a nearly fool-proof method I have used for years. When someone cranks up, I say: "No hablo ingles" or "J'n parle francaise," etc.

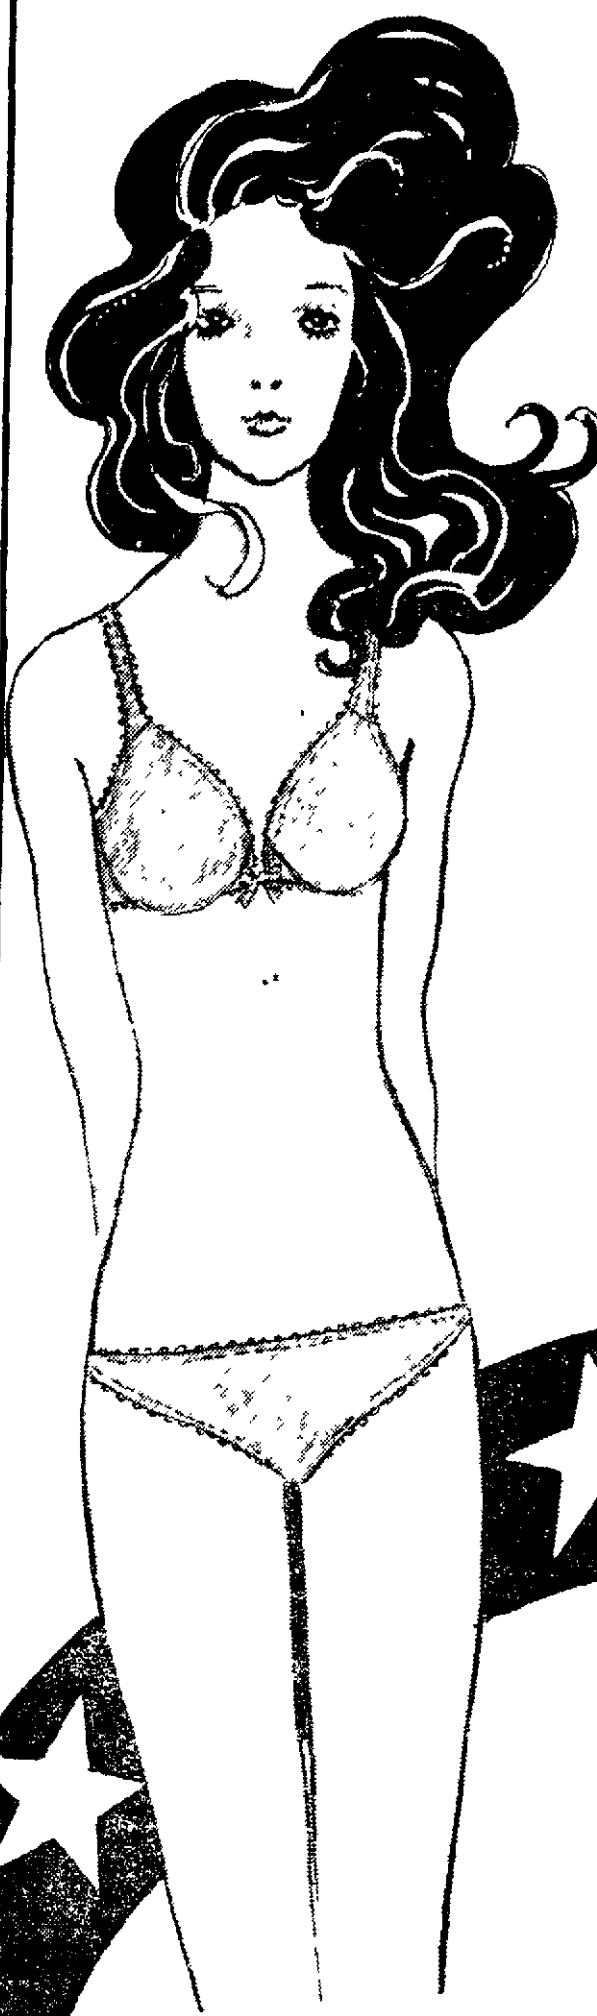

Of course I have to be careful that when the stewardess or bus driver comes by, I don't respond in English! I also have to be careful to conceal an English language book or newspaper, which is a dead giveaway. With these precautions, it works nearly every time.

One of my female friends discourages would-be conversationalists by removing her partial upper plate. A big, toothless grin in the direction of the offender is usually sufficient.

VETERAN TRAVELER

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Friends Should Attempt To Stop Drunken Drivers

(c) Newhouse News Service
Washington — You're in a bar quietly having a couple of beers and watching TV when the advertisement comes on.

In it the bartender says he just sent a guy home in a cab because he was too drunk to drive. "Now I don't mind," he says, smiling. "But why did I have to do that when his best friend is sitting right here?"

That's a question the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) hopes a lot of people will start asking themselves. It's part of a new campaign with the theme, "Friends don't let friends drive drunk."

"The new ads seek to make it okay to intervene among friends to prevent drunk driving," explains Dwight Fee, an official with NHTSA. "The notion is that the ultimate solution to the problem is the development of new social controls, exercised voluntarily to make DWI (driving while intoxicated) taboo."

The ads, which will be heard on radio and appear in print as public service announcements, also will attack two widely-held, but incorrect views that black coffee can sober someone up enough to drive safely and that beer and wine are not as intoxicating as mixed drinks.

Silence Kills

But the main thrust is aimed at the conspiracy of silence that often prevents people from stopping a friend who has had too much to drink.

"When someone drinks too much and then drives, it's the silence that kills," says one ad. "Your silence. It kills your friends, your relatives and people you don't even know. But they're all people you could save."

The campaign proposes some simple advice. Offer to drive someone home, call him a cab or invite him to stay over.

The direction of the campaign is based on a national survey conducted for NHTSA that found drinkers are often allowed to drive because friends and relatives are unable to recognize potential drunk drivers and are unaware of how to stop them.

The survey also discovered "an alarming amount of drinking and driving" by a broad cross-section of high school students, who are involved with social drinking almost as frequently as adults.

Alcohol plays a role in half of all highway deaths, and an estimated two-thirds of those involve the problem drinkers whom the survey described as "heavy escape drinkers, compulsive drinkers or outright alcoholics." Social drinkers and young people experimenting with alcohol at the same time they are beginning their driving careers account for the remaining one-third.

NHTSA estimates that 20,000 people lost their lives in 1974 in crashes where alcohol was involved.

The best way to prevent a drunk from becoming a dead drunk is to stop him from driving.

"Speak up. Don't let silence be the last sound he hears."

Opening lead - king of clubs.

Luck evens out in the long run, so if you want to wind up ahead in the race you have to play bridge a shade better than those other three characters at the table who simply don't understand what the game's all about.

Let's say you're in six hearts and West leads the king of clubs, which you ruff. You play the queen of trumps and finesse, but your horrid opponent on the right wins with the king and returns the queen of spades.

Bilingual Education Awaits Discussion

Plans for bilingual and bicultural education in Nebraska will be delayed until a "thorough discussion" of that topic with the State Board of Education, Dr. Anne Campbell, education commissioner, said.

Campbell told board members at their Tuesday night meeting that the state Department of Education is "divided on the question" of how the program should be carried out.

Part of the problem, she said, is that the department is "not sure about financing at the federal level."

Natural Gas Rates To Climb

Higher natural gas rates will increase monthly bills about 8% or $1.50 for an average residential heating customer in Lincoln and 36 other Nebraska communities beginning Oct. 27.

The higher rates are to cover rising costs in securing new supplies, leasing storage facilities, plant construction and pipeline operations.

The higher rates were requested by CENGAS last May but delayed until October by the Federal Power Commission (FPC). The final decision of the FPC may result in a lowering of the rate hike and subsequent refund to customers.

C. L. Wilcox, CENGAS Lincoln Division Manager, noted this is what apparently will happen to the rate hike which began in October 1974. The FPC will not allow the full hike, and CENGAS is planning to refund the money collected in excess of the approved rates.

The latest rate hike applies to customers supplied by the Northern Natural Gas Company.

These include: Adams, Arlington, Beatrice, Bee, Bemer, Blair, Clatonia, Columbus, Cortland, Craig, Crete, David City, DeWitt, Dorchester, Friend, Grafton, Greenwood, Hallam, Mead, Norfolk, Myrland, Nickerson, Oakland, Osceola, Plattsmouth, Plymouth, Rising City, Seward, Shelby, Staplehurst, Tekamah, Ulysses, Wahoo, Waverly, West Point, and Wilber.

Direct Deposit Of Checks Said Too Successful

Direct deposit of Social Security checks has proved so popular in the Lincoln area that it may be two months before all requests are processed, Roger D. Flaskerud, Social Security district manager, said.

"We've received several thousand requests during the past two weeks," he said.

Checks will arrive in the mail as usual until then, he said.

It was the widespread theft of social security checks from the mails that prompted the voluntary program, Flaskerud said.

The program allows for direct deposit of the checks in a bank, credit union or savings and loan.

Grad Student's Thesis Praised

The master's thesis written by a graduate student now enrolled at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln was selected as one of the three most outstanding master's theses in agricultural economics in the country by the American Agricultural Economics Association.

Larry Janssen, 26, now a Ph.D. candidate in agricultural economics at UNL, wrote his master's thesis while attending Oklahoma State University in Stillwater. He received his bachelor's degree from UNL in 1971, and is a native of Syracuse.

Candle Causes Bedroom Fire At Apartment

A fire, apparently started by a candle, did considerable damage to the bedroom in the Mrs. Barbara Velazquez apartment, 1101 Cambridge Court, Tuesday afternoon, fire officials reported.

Firemen said a candle left burning on a desk in the bedroom apparently set a curtain on fire. The fire then spread from the curtain to the desk and a bed, they said, causing considerable damage and some smoke damage to the bedroom.

Price Survey To Include Grand Island

Grand Island (UPI) — Grand Island and the surrounding area has been selected by the U.S. Labor Department to become part of the consumer price index, Grand Island officials said Tuesday.

Dick Good, Chamber of Commerce executive secretary, said for the next few weeks, representatives from the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics will be visiting various stores and businesses in the area in preparation for a comprehensive revision of the index.

The consumer price index, also known as the cost of living index, measures the rate of price changes in the economy, based on information from surveys of area representatives.

The bureau selects a "market basket" of goods and services which are priced periodically at local outlets. An index of price is then computed and published, reflecting price changes.

The last revision took place in the 1960s and the latest one, which will reflect changes in consumer buying patterns, how people spend their money and where, will be completed in 1977.

Good said bureau representatives "will be making contacts in Hall, Howard, Hamilton and Merrick counties to establish a consumer price index."

Previously, Good said he understood the index was based on financial information gathered in primarily the nation's metropolitan areas. He said in Nebraska's case, that means Kansas City was the closest sampling point.

Youngster Dies Of Suffocation Near Creighton

Creighton (AP) — A five-year-old South Sioux City, Neb. girl has died in an unusual accident at her grandparents' farm near here.

Patricia Lee Gardner was riding her tricycle Monday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Zimmerer and apparently attempted to ride under a disc hitch which was attached to a tractor, Knox County Sheriff's officers said.

The girl became wedged between the hitch and the tricycle and died of suffocation, officers said. The accident was discovered by Patricia's four-year-old sister, who summoned assistance.

The girl was dead on arrival at a Creighton hospital.

She was the daughter of Mrs. Darlene Gardner of South Sioux City and Edward Gardner, stationed in England with the U.S. Air Force.

NETV Unit OKs 5.62% And 8.91% Higher Budget Requests

By DICK BOLMAN
Star Staff Writer

In its annual long-range money review Tuesday, the Nebraska Educational Television (NETV) Commission unanimously approved appropriations requests, seeking a 5.62% increase in 1976-77 and 8.91% more funds in 1977-78.

Proposals for expanded service next year include programs for the elderly, to serve about one-third of all Nebraskans who are over age 55, and a weekly agriculture program. First-time Sunday morning programming is sought in two years.

Major increases in the requests include a 30% boost projected to meet higher postal rates and 20% hikes in utilities costs, according to Paul Few, NETV Network assistant general manager for administration.

The commission's legislative funding for 1975-76 is $2.5 million (excluding a $274,000 reappropriation for capital expenses). The 1976-77 total that commissioners approved is $2,677,550, and for the following fiscal year, $2,916,014.

The two-year appropriations package will be submitted by Sept. 15 for review by state budget agencies, the governor and the Legislature in its 1976 session.

Jack McBride, NETV general manager and commission secretary, explained that the Legislature will address only 1976-77 fund requests directly, while commission needs stated for the next year fit with state agencies' posture to plan for future needs.

The NETV Network proposed continuation budget and funds to improve TV reception together represent a 1.74% decrease, Few said, from $2.53 million this year to $2.49 million in 1976-77. Requests in those categories for the following year are $2.65 million, a 6.42% increase.

Few said the NETV staff prepared the requests on the premise that items subject to inflation would cost 6% more. He called that a "responsible level to ask for," but noted it's "going to require some (strict) management practices to stay within that," as costs increase.

The $56,702 in additions requested for next year's continuation budget include three new positions, a network accountant, assistant engineering director and mobile unit maintenance engineer. A half-time secretary is proposed to allow NETV to respond to viewer mail — 19,000 letters in 1974-75.

The 1977-78 proposal calls for a new "network research specialist" at an $18,450 salary to make NETV programming more responsive, scientifically, to Nebraskans' needs and wants.

Kearney Commission James D. Johnson objected to higher salaries among Nebraska public employee ranks, compared to the private broadcast industry scale and the entire private sector.

McBride noted public agency pay was competitive locally throughout Nebraska until 1973, when the state pay plan was adopted.

For the proposed technical equipment appropriations budgets, commissioners approved $204,240 in requests for 1976-77 and $275,452 for the following year. The total, $479,693, was pared from a longer list of needs McBride said.

Few said the two-year appropriations requests exclude the possible impact of unionization by NETV Network employees.

Engineering and production personnel filed a joint petition with the University of Nebraska and the commission, asking that the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW) be their exclusive bargaining agent.

A Court of Industrial Relations hearing on the request ended Tuesday. Attorneys have until Sept. 9 to file briefs and until Sept. 14 to respond to them, with a decision expected in late September.

Few said if the court dismisses NETV employees' request, that will "probably be the end of it."

But if recognition is granted, a university appeal is a "definite possibility," he said, explaining it's not an anti-union stance; rather, opposition to many bargaining units in one agency

County Employees To Get Raise

The Lancaster County Commissioners counted the taxpayers' pennies Tuesday and decided the county budgetary piggy bank had enough money to give a 10% pay raise to employees for at least a part of the fiscal year.

And though the commissioners felt that a 10% cost of living increase, on top of a 5% merit raise, was too high and inflationary, two commissioners said they will probably approve the 10% hike in order to keep city and county pay scales comparable.

Only Chairman Jan Gauger said she was still uncertain about her vote.

The Commissioners will vote on salary increases at the Sept. 9 board meeting, after the Personnel Policy Board has made a raise recommendation.

The county budget, adopted in mid August, contains money for the 5% merit increase and a 6% cost of living increase retroactive to July 1.

The County Board, anticipating that the city might go to a 7 1/2% cost of living figure, added $300,000 in a miscellaneous fund to cover a city pay hike above the cost of living increase, and to bring several clerical position salaries in line with comparable positions in city departments.

In the past, lower salaries for entry level positions has put the county in a bad recruiting position.

Prospective employees, given two similar job opportunities, will most likely take the one with the highest pay — the city job, county department heads have complained.

Monday night the City Council granted city employees a 10% cost of living increase, and the county found itself in the position of either raising its pay or having lower salaries on all comparable county positions.

The $300,000 will cover a 10% pay hike for a portion of the year, beginning in late fall, according to a rough estimate by County Personnel Manager Wayne Hart. It is not enough to give a 10% cost of living increase retroactive to the beginning of the county's fiscal year, July 1.

The county continues to run into this wage discrepancy problem because of differing budget deadlines, Mrs. Gauger said. "The city is still negotiating pay when we have to adopt our budget," she pointed out.

Council OKs Airport Tax, LTS Audit

The City Council authorized the Lincoln Airport Authority Monday to levy one mill for 1975-76 fiscal year.

The Authority decided not to charge a 1 mill promotion tax this year.

The council also authorized the accounting firm of Marvin E. Jewell Co. to audit the Lincoln Transportation System for the year ending Aug. 31.

LOMR Funding Loss Means Layoffs

The Lancaster Office of Mental Retardation (LOMR) will lay off 15 employees and cut back on the use of substitute teachers and some outside services in an effort to survive a drop in federal funding.

Loss of more than $270,000 in federal funding, funneled through the State Welfare Department, has brought a $22,000 a month deficit in the LOMR budget, Director Bob Smith told the Lancaster County Board Tuesday.

The employee cutbacks and some penny pinching will enable LOMR to serve all of its clients until February he said.

And by then LOMR should have some idea if the state legislature is going to pick up some of the deficit caused by the federal fund loss, or if additional program and staff cuts will be necessary, Smith said.

The employee cuts will affect some special services and the child-to-teacher ratio, but will not greatly affect direct services to the children and adults served by LOMR, Smith said.

Employees to be laid off include eight teachers at the LOMR Human Development School, 16th and A Sts., plus one administrator and six employees in the community service division.

Where in the past two teachers have been assigned to each room only one teacher and aides will handle a classroom this year.

Community service activities will continue for clients to some extent through other community agencies including the city recreation program, Smith said.

"Though community service was extremely valuable to the agency it is duplicated within the community," Smith said.

Some special services, including contracting for cleaning yard work and snow removal at the group homes, will also be discontinued, Smith said.

LOMR employees were notified Aug. 12 that some staff reductions would be necessary and letters to individual staff members were mailed Tuesday, Smith said.

With normal attrition, many of the teachers can probably be rehired within the year, Smith said.

Manor Residents Send County Gift

Puffing County Commissioners no longer have to aim their ashes at tiny tin foil cups.

The make-shift ashtrays in the County Board hearing room used by Commissioners and visitors alike, have been replaced by the real thing — ceramic ashtrays in an assortment of pastel colors.

The ashtrays, made by Lancaster Manor residents as an activity project were slipped onto the Commissioners front podium Tuesday morning and were immediately put to use by pipe puffing Bob Colin and Bruce Hamilton and cigarette smoking Jan Gauger.

The ashtrays, about a dozen of them, were the first products turned out by manor residents in a new kiln.

School Board Names Panel On Sex-Rule Compliance

By DICK HOLMAN
Star Staff Writer

The Lincoln Board of Education Tuesday night appointed a 14-member task force to examine public schools policies and practices to ensure compliance with Title IX of the 1972 federal Education Amendments.

The group has seven months to report its findings and recommendations to the board. Title IX prohibits sex discrimination in any federally-funded education program.

Task force members are four students, five school employees, and five citizens representing the board, State Education Department, PTA, National Organization for Women and business.

They'll work with Gayle Hurlbert of the public schools personnel department, who has been appointed to coordinate Title IX compliance work. She reported that student grievances may be lodged in principals' offices.

Elementary schools have one year to comply with some of the Title IX regulations, and secondary schools, up to three years.

Gifted Students

In a roundup of action to prepare for school opening next week, Supt. John Prasch presented a work schedule for a program to serve academically gifted and talented students.

Besides providing a basic education, the program goals include offering special opportunities to challenge youth and help them understand their special aptitudes or abilities.

Prasch said no special classes or schools will be set up for gifted students; rather, the basic responsibility for their instruction lies with teachers and building principals, who will get special assistance.

Job targets of the gifted program include continuing the present plan to identify students, and a manual will be written, which sets standards to minimize lag time from referral to placement, describes testing, establishes parent communication, and serves the entire teaching staff.

Other goals are making a teaching model developed locally this summer available to elementary school staffs, training them in cooperation with the State Education Department, setting up a plan in each building for each gifted child, analyzing student-teacher-parent objectives and junior high program activities, and establishing advanced placement programs in senior highs.

An umbrella coordinating committee of board members, parents, students, administrators and University of Nebraska-Lincoln educators will advise in developing the program for the gifted.

If Jody Batten, head of gifted programs, accomplishes all those goals by September 1976, Board President Lou Roper said the district "is going to be making great strides."

Program Expanded

Prasch introduced Merita Miles, new director of the cultural awareness program which will continue in its third year, despite loss of federal funds. Mrs. Miles is expanding the program from target schools to the entire district, to serve teachers as well.

In a report on construction, Prasch said the Morley School addition is incomplete but will be available for use next week. The Northeast High addition will also be ready for students use. Building at the new High Elementary is moving more rapidly than expected, he said.

Lincoln High remodeling is "a real mess" but arrangements have been made to accommodate students, Prasch said. Demolishing work should be completed by next week, but replacement of the 536 windows has just begun — another four to five weeks work.

Prasch said public school bus riders have been notified of routes and schedules by mail. About 30 parochial school students have requested rides under LB522, a 1975 law. "If it does not exceed this number, then we'll have no problems," he said.

Prasch again discussed changing school attendance boundaries within Lincoln, but noted "the public is really not well informed about our plans."

The district will present proposals to principals and parent groups before board action by next January.

Cooperative Projects

Prasch also announced two cooperative projects with UNL. At Lakeview and Belmont Schools, student teachers will do much of their collegiate work in an expanded program. The Teacher Corps, directed by UNL Prof. John Lux, former school board member, will be in Goodrich Junior High.

The board decided to continue its current practice of scheduling one of its two monthly meetings in the evenings at school buildings throughout Lincoln.

Bob Den Hartog, associate superintendent for business affairs, reported that property taxation to support the $37.6 million budget in 1975-76 will require a general fund levy of 51.684 mills. That compares to 47.488 last year.

The new total would require 74.768 mills, but tax replacements of state aid ($5.45 million) and other receipts expected (almost $6.2 million) are the equivalent of 23.084 mills.

Police Review Board Idea Sent Back For Revisions

By LYNN ZERSCHLING
Star Staff Writer

Councilmen John Robinson and Max Denney already have teamed up to begin working out a modified police review board proposal.

Monday night the City Council dropped the controversial proposal back in Denney's and Robinson's laps since the two lawmakers have proposed two separate plans. The council hopes that some type of compromise can be reached which will be acceptable to all council members and the police department.

Councilman Bob Jeambey spearheaded the move to work out an acceptable solution and suggested that Denney and Robinson should be the committee to do the work.

The two lawmakers believe they can have a draft back to the council by Sept. 15.

Robinson said he and Denney already have agreed to settle several things, including:

- finding an "acceptable" name for the board.
- agreeing that the board members should be appointed by the mayor and confirmed by the council.
- agreeing to drop Robinson's designation requiring a minister to serve on the board.
- deciding on the right number to serve on the board.
- deciding where citizens who wish to lodge complaints against the police should file complaints.

Robinson has proposed that a nine-member police board be set up under the City Council. Denney has proposed that a five-member board be created, which would be an extension of the existing procedure set up in the mayor's office.

While Denney says he agrees to the concept of having such an advisory board, he is leery of setting up any type of citizen panel which would end up running the police department.

Robinson contends an independent citizens' board should be set up outside the police department to investigate complaints made against police officers.

Include the Newspaper in vacation plans. Your paper by mail will keep you informed while away.

A major difference between the two proposals is that under Robinson's plan, all complaints would be screened by the board. Under Denney's plan, the mayor would decide which complaints to refer to the board for a hearing.

Both councilmen have agreed that one or two places other than the council's office should be designated to receive such complaints.

Robinson suggested the 'Human Rights Officer's office, while Denney suggested the City Clerk's office.

Both councilmen said they didn't think the complaints should be filed directly with the council's office, since such a procedure would tend to embroil the lawmakers in any controversy, they said.

Denney, who will be on vacation for a week, said he will meet with Robinson on the matter when he returns.

Park Music To Continue

At least one summertime activity in Lincoln will continue through September — music in the park.

The Lincoln Foundation said Tuesday it will continue to arrange free musical entertainment at 215 Centennial Mall South, from noon to 1 p.m. each Monday and Friday.

The privately-funded program has attracted large crowds and many persons listen while eating their lunch, a Foundation official said.

How To Keep Frozen Foods Fresher

by Helen Davis, Hinky Dinky Home Economist

To keep frozen foods fresher than fresh, follow proper storage and handling procedures. Your freezer should show a temperature of 0 degrees or lower to assure the best retention of vitamin content, flavor and texture.

Before grocery shopping, check on available freezer space. Try to make grocery shopping your last stop before going home and make your selections from the frozen food department last. When you return home, put all frozen foods away first thing.

There is no season in the frozen food department and you'll find gourmet entrees and old fashioned favorites. With proper care, frozen foods give you value in freshness, convenience, nutrition, availability, economy and good taste.

NU Salary Schedule Ruled Illegal By Court

St. Louis (UPI) — A Federal Appeals Court ruled Tuesday that the University of Nebraska acted illegally when it refused to pay male employees according to the same salary schedule developed for female employees.

The U.S. 8th Circuit Court of Appeals reversed a decision by the U.S. District Court in Nebraska, which had ruled in favor of the university.

The university acted in 1972 to determine whether female employees of its Colleges of Agriculture and Home Economics were discriminated against because their pay was not comparable to the pay of male employees. A complex salary schedule was worked out by which the salary of female employees could be determined.

A Neil Dawes, filing suit on behalf of extension employees at the College of Agriculture, claimed that by using the salary schedule for female employees and not for males, the university was violating the federal Equal Pay Act. A lower court disagreed but the appellate court reversed that opinion.

The appellate court said it had been shown that male employees with substantially equivalent education, experience and merit were being paid less than the minimum established for female employees.

"It was the university, not the defendant class, that established the ground rules for determining whether women were being discriminated against," the court said in its opinion. "It determined the factors that were considered to be important for that purpose."

"It (the university) cannot now be heard to complain that some other additional factors must also be considered when the question is one of discrimination against the male employees who are being paid less than the formula minimum."

The ruling said the fact that there are male and female teachers making more than the salaries called for by the formula does not make any difference. "It is not necessary to prove that all of the persons of one sex employed by a single employer are discriminated against to establish a violation of the law," it said. "It is sufficient to show that some are."

The opinion added it is not implying that salary schedules or minimum salaries must be established. It is only ruling that when such formulas are used, they must be applied equally to each sex.

The case was heard by Circuit Judges Gerald W. Heaney, Donald P. Lay and Roy L. Stephenson.

Stocks Decline Broadly

NEW YORK (AP) — Concern over rising interest rates reasserted its grip on the stock market Tuesday, pushing prices into a broad decline in light trading.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials dropped 9.23 to 803.11 and declining issues outnumbered those advancing 930 to 412 among the 1,770 traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

Big Board volume totaled 11.35 million shares, compared with 11.25 million Monday. The NYSE's composite index lost .56 to 44.71, and Standard & Poor's 500-stock index was off 1.10 to 83.96.

Prices moved upward briefly at the opening in a weak attempt to extend the technical rally that had carried the Dow to a 20-day peak over the two previous sessions.

At that point the market seemed to have two things working in its favor — continuing expectations of the signing of a Sinai agreement soon between Israel and Egypt, and the government's report of another large U.S. trade surplus during July.

But at the end of the first half hour the Dow was back to its closing level Monday and en route to a minus-7 reading by noon.

Brokers said it looked as though the market was simply unable to shake off the effects of the interest rate worries that have dogged it since early summer.

The subject came into sharp focus again with the government's announcement after the close Monday that Treasury bill yields had risen to an eight-month high at the latest bill auction.

Returns on 13-week bills, for example, climbed to 6.59 percent, their highest level since Jan. 13.

Markets At A Glance

New York (AP) — New York Stock Exchange: 612 advances, 930 declines. Most active Texaco, 23% — 1/4. Index: 44.71 — .56. Sales: 11,354,000. American Stock Exchange: 183 advances, 350 declines. Most active Syntex, 24% — 1/4. Sales: 1,110,000. Index: 83.96 — .33. Bonds $488,000.

Chicago: Wheat-Limit decline. Corn-Limit decline. Oats-Limit decline. Soybeans-Limit decline.

Athlone Industries fell a point to 7%. The company said a tender offer for 400,000 of its own shares at $9.25 apiece, which expired on Monday, had been oversubscribed.

MCA was up 1% at 60% and Twentieth-Century Fox gained 1% to 13%. Both received favorable mention in a Wall Street Journal article on movie stocks.

Commodities

Chicago (AP) — Support withered and selective liquidation and profit taking combined to produce limit declines in six of the major commodity futures pits on the Chicago Board of Trade Tuesday.

The major declines included 20 cents a bushel in soybeans and wheat, 10 cents in corn, 6 cents in oats, 100 points, or 1 cent a pound, in soybean oil and 20 cents in silver futures.

Soybean meal was down nearly $8 a ton. Iced broiler futures lost about 1 cent a pound on selling that was associated with weakness in the nearby pits as well as lower prices for red meat futures. Gold futures had very little support throughout the day and closed about 50 cents an ounce lower.

I recently got a ticket while conducting some business at the County City Building. I was parked in one of the parking lots there. After paying the ticket, someone told me that I shouldn't have paid it. Can ACTION LINE tell me what the policy on this is?

ACTION LINE: Lt. Cliff Koch of the Lincoln Police Dept. confirms that you probably shouldn't have paid the ticket. He says if an individual is conducting business with a city or county office and gets a ticket in one of the building lots, he can take the ticket to the department he was visiting. The ticket should be left with that department and it will be taken care of.

Can ACTION LINE find out for me if the firemen in Lincoln still slide down poles when they are going to a fire?

—Bobby D., Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Yes, they do at one location, according to Lincoln Fire Chief Dallas Johnson. He says sliding down a pole is a quicker and safer way to reach the fire trucks than running down stairs. Johnson says the station at 18th and Q is the only one where this is done. It's not done at the other stations for the simple reason they are only one story high and there are no stairs.

When will Wagon Train Lake be opened to fishing again and what kind of fish is the State Game and Parks Commission planning on stocking the lake with?

—A. L., Lincoln

ACTION LINE: The lake will probably be closed for the 1976 and 1977 sporting seasons, however this needs final confirmation by the commission. Game and Parks spokesman Quentin Bliss says the lake will be stocked with bass, channel cat, and bluegill later this year and that Walleye and Northern Pike will be added next year. He says all the stocked fish will be fingerlings, and notes that while it takes longer to restock with this method it's a more predictable method.

What is the status of the city program to get rid of trees stricken with Dutch Elm disease?

—Curious, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Parks and Recreation Dept. Director Don Smith says the city is a little behind in the program this year because of the large kill last year. He says the main thing is to get all the trees marked before they lose their leaves. Smith says there are three full-time city crews working to remove the trees. Private property owners are required by ordinance to remove any of the diseased trees that are not located on public property. If individuals don't comply, the city will remove the trees and assess the cost against the property.

What is the city doing to the street in the vicinity of 14th and O?

—Curious, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: It's not the city, Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Co. is installing a link of a 24-duct underground conduit system. This will carry underground telephone cables for expanded service to northwest Lincoln. It was started in mid-July and is expected to be completed in late September. The cost estimates for the project are in the neighborhood of $75,000.

Moore To Install Veer Into Unsettled KU Offense

By BOB OWENS
Star Sports Editor

Lawrence, Kan. — Bud Moore, who was Bear Bryant's offensive coordinator at Alabama last season, is bringing the "veer" offense to Kansas where he has taken over as head coach in the wake of a disaster season that started with Nebraska's 56-0 victory here last October.

The Jayhawks have offensive line problems and an unsettled quarterback situation as Moore prepares for his debut against Washington State here on Sept. 13.

Only one line starter, center

John Morgan, returns from Don Fambrough's 1974 squad and Moore admits "we're still looking for winners in the offensive line." The situation, however, might not be as critical as it appears on paper.

"It's easier to run any type of veer offense with inferior offensive linemen that it is to run the 'I' like Nebraska and Southern California does," Moore admits.

"In the 'I' you need big, strong linemen to maintain contact to enable the back to be able to pick his hole."

He explained that in the veer, you work on a 2-on-1, 4-on-3 or 3-on-2 principal — in effect the double team block. "You get that by assigning the tackle to the quarterback," Moore said.

"We're going to run the veer out of some formation, hopefully it will be the wishbone," Moore said. "We plan to use both the wishbone and slot formations with two split ends unless we lose all our backs."

Much of what Kansas will do depends on who wins the quarterback assignment. Right now, Scott McMichael, last year's starter against Nebraska, is No. 1, but he's being challenged by Nolan Cromwell, starting free safetyman last season but a quarterback in his high school days.

Cromwell, 440-yard intermediate hurdles champion in the Big Eight, is regarded one of the top 22 Jayhawk players and will go back to defense if he doesn't become the No. 1 quarterback.

"He's a proven winner in the defensive secondary," Moore said. "He's a once-in-a-lifetime guy, a fine young man, both on and off the field."

A Big Eight Skywriter asked Moore where Cromwell might be able to play, other than defensive tackle, the new KU coach responded, "I'm not sure he couldn't play there." He admitted it might be tough for Cromwell to be a linebacker, but said he could be a super defensive end.

The strength of the Jayhawks is the defensive line and the secondary could also be very strong. Linebacking is a weakness.

Top man on the line is Mike Butler, 6-6, 255, who Moore says "can be as good as he wants to be. He's extremely big and strong and can run."

Two-year letterman Paul Van Saun, 6-3, 245, has been consistent at the other tackle. A freshman, Franklin King, 6-2, 255, has done well and should help in the depth department.

Nose guard, where sophomore Jim Emerson is No. 1 and where freshman Dennis Balagna, 6-3, 250, is No. 2, isn't as strong as it needs to be, but Moore says Emerson and Balagna are good prospects. Both also are extremely inexperienced.

The defensive secondary is headed by 1975 starters Steve Taylor, Kurt Knoff and Eddie Lewis and could be an all-veteran outfit if Cromwell returns to defense.

"All are capable and proven except Chris Golub, who lettered last year," Moore said. "Golub is being pushed by Tom Fitch, who also is trying free safety."

Kansas has Laverne Smith as its top returning running back. He was second only to Oklahoma's Joe Washington with an average of 107.4 yards a game last season. Other starters right now are fullback Dennis Wright and halfback Bill Campbell.

"All are capable of being fine football players," Moore said. "But as a backfield, we need to improve our blocking and execution."

Another possibility is Scott McKamy, switched just this week from quarterback to halfback. "He runs well and is a good blocker and he's better suited to being a halfback than a quarterback."

Moore admits there isn't enough talent at Kansas to win the Big Eight championship. "If we do it will be because the players have accepted the challenge," he said.

Knoff Can't Forget 56-0

Lawrence, Kan. — Kurt Knoff has been a starter for Kansas since his freshman season in 1972 and the one thing he can't get out of his mind is how easily Nebraska whipped the Jayhawks here last season.

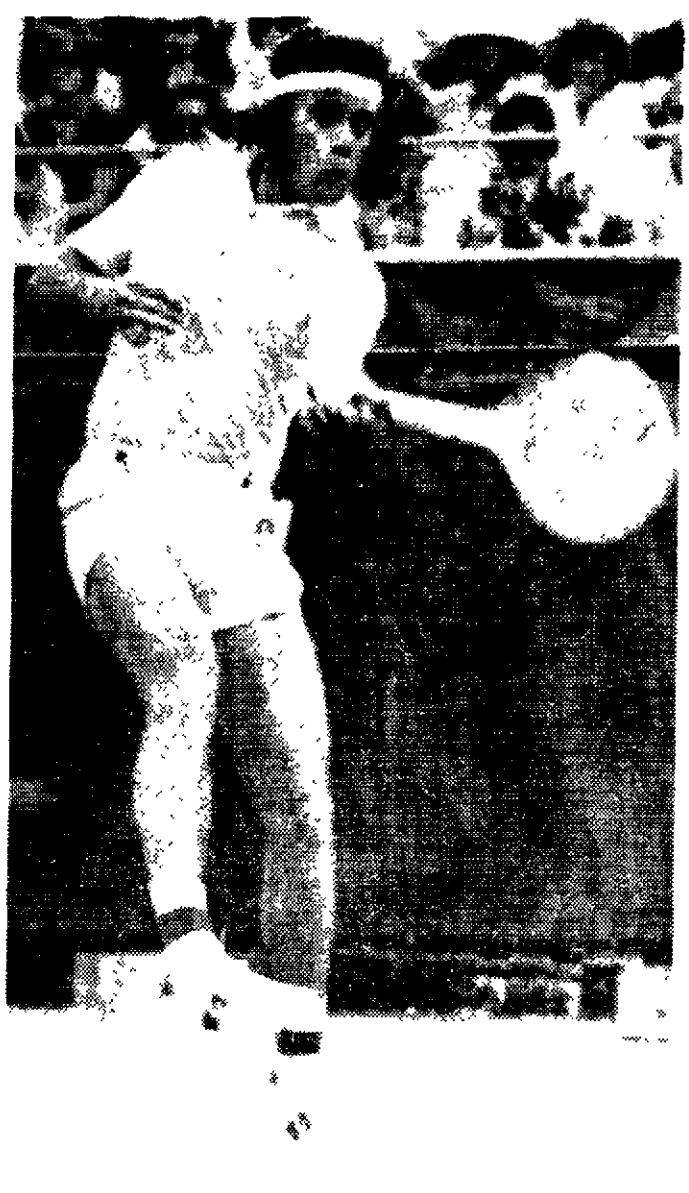

"I've done a lot of soul searching and I can't put my finger on why it happened," the 6-3, 200 pound senior from East Grand Forks, Minn., said Tuesday during the visit of the Big Eight Skywriters.

The situation was this: Nebraska had lost two of its first five games and was ranked twelfth in the nation. Kansas was 4-1, rated 13th and had impressively beaten highly-regarded Texas A&M.

The Jayhawks and their followers thought this was their year to end the frustration of losing to the Cornhuskers year after year. Some stories the night before the game quoted KU coaches and players as "not just wanting to beat Nebraska, but to beat the Hell out of them." It just didn't happen.

Nebraska, behind an unbelievable performance by quarterback Dave Humm, ripped KU 56-0, putting on a second-half 42-point blitz. Humm completed an NCAA record 15 consecutive passes as NU piled up 465 yards in total offense while limiting Kansas to a mere 143 yards.

"I don't like to blame it on injuries," Knoff said, obviously referring to the knee injury to running back Robert Miller early in the game. "It seemed like one thing happened after another and we never put it back together." The Jayhawks didn't win a game the rest of the season and finished with a 4-7 record.

NU Offensive Line Struck; Zanetich, Waldemore Out

By RANDY YORK

Thunder struck Nebraska's football camp twice Tuesday, making the Cornhuskers' situation at right offensive guard "desperate," according to head coach Tom Osborne.

First, junior Nick Zanetich, the No. 1 man at the position from last spring until Monday, announced he was quitting the team because of ulcer problems.

Then, about a third of the way through Tuesday's spirited session, Stan Waldemore suffered a strained knee.

Waldemore, a sophomore redshirt who had been promoted ahead of Zanetich to the No. 1 unit Monday, sustained the injury in a pileup during line scrimmage.

Severity Unknown

"We won't know how serious the injury is until two or three days," Osborne said. "A lot will depend on the swelling. But it was loose, which means the possibility of some torn ligaments and maybe even surgery."

Zanetich (6-1, 220), a Hoboken, N.J., product, plans to attend Nebraska this semester, then possibly return to his hometown. Waldemore (6-4, 246) is from Belleville, N.J.

Another possibility is moving second team left tackle Rich Costanzo (a 6-5, 261-pound senior) to the depleted right guard ranks.

"Usually," Osborne observed, "your offense isn't much better than your weakest link, particularly up front, and this is a very critical situation. At least we have 2 1/2 weeks to do something about it."

Similar Desperation

Osborne compared the severity of the problem to one five years ago when Nebraska prepared to journey to Southern Cal.

"Van Brownson was hurt and Jerry Tagge was doubtful until the Wednesday or Thursday before the game," Osborne recalled. "We even had Jeff Kinney working at quarterback that week."

Tagge ended up playing the whole game as Nebraska and USC tied, 21-21, the only blemish on the Huskers' unbeaten national championship season.

Osborne's hoping for the same kind of results. If Waldemore's knee injury isn't serious, Nebraska's "panic" could be only temporary.

Parks Commission Cuts Pheasant Season

By TOM VINT
Outdoor Writer

Nebraska pheasant hunters won't have the Christmas holidays for taking to the fields this year in pursuit of the state's No. 1 game bird, according to season regulations set by the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission Tuesday night.

The seven-man board of commissioners followed staff biologists' recommendations for an abbreviated season of 44 days running from Nov. 1 to Dec. 14.

The move was made to bring "recognition of a declining population" of pheasants in the state which reached an all-time low this year, said the chief of wildlife Ken Johnson.

The 44-day season is 28 shorter than the 72 days of 1974. In addition, the commissioners voted unanimously to close to pheasant hunters the Panhandle portion of the state, hardest hit by winter storms.

Pheasant numbers were down over 40% in two bird counts in that area this spring and summer.

The closure includes areas west of Highway 61 running north and south to Interstate 80 and I-80 to the Colorado border. The closure drew support from western hunters but the shortened season was questioned by many eastern hunters.

Upland bird hunters did receive an extension of staff recommendations for the quail season, however. A Nov. 1 to Jan. 11, 72-day season was set beyond the staff's recommended 44 days. Bag and possession limits on pheasant and quail would remain the same as in 1974 with three and nine respectively for pheasants and six and 18 for quail.

The grouse season was shortened seven days from a year ago and will run from Sept. 20 to Oct. 26 with a daily bag of three and possession of six.

The Game and Parks Commission buildings' hearing room was packed with interested hunters questioning and supporting commission season recommendations.

The waterfowl situation is full of complexities in following federal guidelines and state regulations.

Duck hunters in the eastern portion of the state will have a split 60-day season, with the first portion running Oct. 4 to Oct. 12 and the remainder Oct. 25 through Dec. 14. The high plains area season is Oct. 11 to Jan. 1.

The state's duck hunters are divided from the north border of the state along Highway 183 South to Highway 20 to Highway 7 to Highway 91 to Highway 2 to Highway 70-92 to Highway 40-47 to Highway 23 to Highway 283 to the Kansas border.

Shooting hours for waterfowl will begin at 30 minutes before sunrise to sunset.

Duck hunters will go by the federal point system for daily bag and possession as in the past.

Goose hunters will also experience a split season statewide with the first portion running Oct. 4 to Oct. 24 and the second from Nov. 1 to Dec. 21. This caused a stir among eastern Nebraska blue and snow goose hunters who claimed the split seasons would cause them to miss much of the late October goose buildup along the Missouri River.

Defense Was Overworked

Knoff, who made one post-season All-American team and is a likelihood for other honors this year, thinks the Kansas defense has been up so high for the game that the fall was a shock. "I didn't think we were superior to Nebraska, but I thought we had a good chance of winning. You know, they say on any given day any team can win."

"The first thing that comes to mind is that we lost fullback Robert Miller and our offense crumbled after that," Knoff recalled.

"Then the defense had to play the whole game. Humm was as on as anybody ever was and getting all the protection in the world. When things go right they seem to keep getting better. It was one of those days everybody has and you just hope you don't have too many."

After the Husker romp, the KU squad just kept going downhill. After we had lost the third in a row we kept saying nobody can lose four in a row. Then we lost another one and another one."

The log shows Kansas fell on successive weeks 22-6 to Iowa State, 23-13 to Oklahoma State, 17-16 to Colorado, 45-14 to Oklahoma and 27-3 to Missouri.

Then exit Don Fambrough and enter Bud Moore and a whole new ray of hope. "I don't know if it (the 56-0 loss) was the lowest spot in my career," Knoff said. "But I know it was one of the lowest. I just can't get it out of my mind."

Knoff Will Be KU Leader

Knoff has been around for four seasons and the younger Kansas players look to him for leadership, attitude and as a morale builder. He accepts the challenge and vows to end his career here with the best effort he can give.

"The new staff has been tough," he said of the new Moore regime. "They've changed the system and it has been an adjustment for the players. There has been more discipline, but it has been proven it is needed. Good teams have this discipline."

Knoff has no regrets about coming to Kansas, a school he chose because he was promised an opportunity to play three sports as a freshman and then choose the one he wanted to continue in. A knee injury in his freshman year ended his basketball tryout, but he has continued to play baseball.

"Not winning enough is the only regret I have," said the KU honor student who came here after a brilliant high school career in Minnesota.

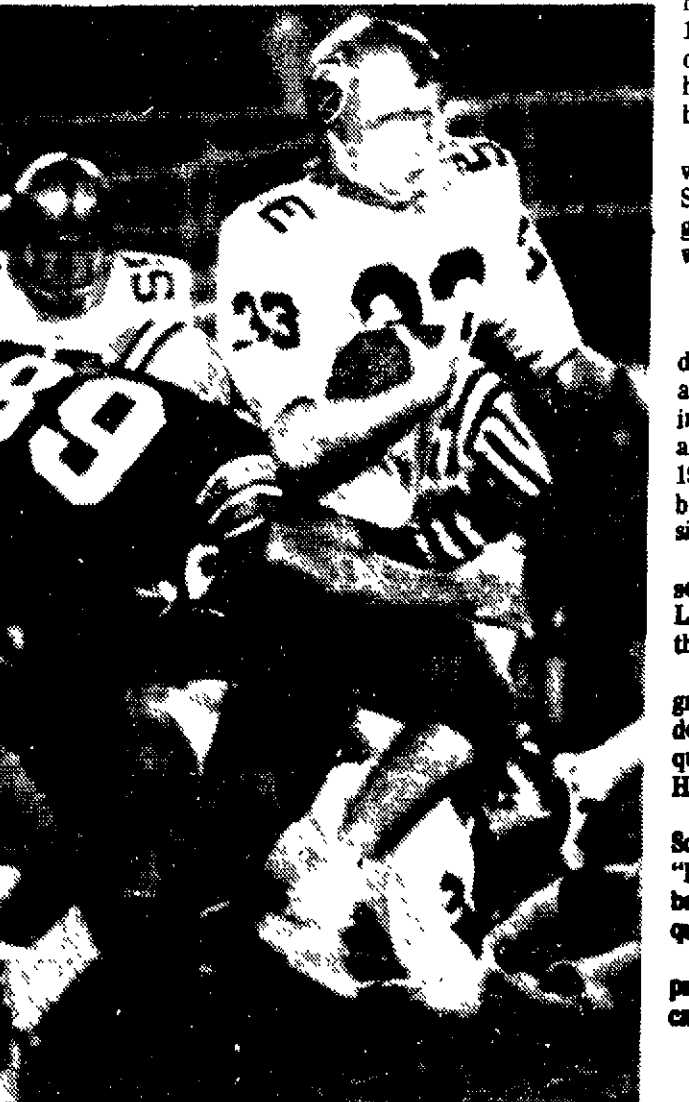

"I had an uncle in Kansas City who was KU alum and he put the coaches in touch with me," Knoff said. "I narrowed it to Minnesota, Colorado and LSU. Nebraska didn't recruit me, but the next year they got Kent Smith and Ken Spaeth from that area."

Meginnis Provides Southeast Offensive Punch

By RANDY YORK
Prep Sports Editor

First of a Series

Coach Frank Solich, in his eighth year as Southeast's head coach, is hoping that tandem keeps the Knights in prime contention for city and state-wide honors.

Meginnis offers the inside running threat. "Add his size (6-1, 190) to a combination of extreme quickness and power and you'd have to list him among the best," Solich says.

"He's one of the best fullbacks we've ever had here," adds Solich. "We expect to establish a good inside game because of the way he blocks, reads and runs."

Rech 'Durable'

Rech, only 5-7 and 150, is a durable runner despite his size and a breakout threat. He was impressive as a junior and Solich anticipates even better things for 1975. "He's also an excellent blocker, the best around for his size," Solich says.

The Southeast coach also puts senior Jim Bolin and junior Larry Gilliland prominently into the rushing picture.

The key to the Knights' ground attack could be the development of junior letterman quarterbacks Ed Davis and Gary Hager.

"Both are good athletes," Solich says of his quarterbacks. "It's really only a matter of time before they become excellent quarterbacks."

The Knights not only feature promising backs; they have capable linemen up front.

Knox Leader

All-state candidate Ken Knox is the leader at left tackle. He's one of Southeast's tri-captains, joining Meginnis and defensive quarterback: Meginnis, fullback; Bolin, halfback; Rech, slotback; Moody, tight end; Krogmeier, middle guard; Knox and Howard Mische, tackles; Will Hewitt and Dave Hughes, guards; Brian Dickey or Leroy Chapin, center.

Defense — Hughes and Moody, ends; Slagel and Mitch Mullins, tackles; Dickey or Marv Ostwald, middle guard; Meginnis and Hewitt, linebackers; Rech and Bolin, cornerbacks; Krogmeier and Davis, safeties.

NU Swim Meeting Set

There will be a Nebraska varsity swim team meeting on Friday at 8:30 p.m. in the Coliseum Pool, according to head coach John Rata. Rata said that any University student who is interested in trying out for the swim team should attend the meeting.

Borg Tops Vilas

BROOKLINE, Mass. (UPI) — Sweden's Bjorn Borg won the battle of the topspins over close friend Guillermo Vilas Tuesday night to take his second straight U.S. Pro Tennis Championships title, 6-3, 6-4, 6-2, at Longwood Cricket Club.

Borg, 19, who beat Tom Okker in straight sets for last year's U.S. Pro crown, played fairly error-free tennis while Vilas was crippled by poor first serves. The 22-year-old lefty suffered six double faults in the opening set and was unable to make good his first serves in the final two sets.

Borg easily handled the slower, spinning second serves and consistently scored with forehand and backhand passing shots.

Vilas, a lawyer's son from Mar del Platta, rallied from 0-5 in the second set to win four straight games. But after taking a 40-15 lead in the 10th game, Vilas fell apart, losing the final four points. He gave away the set on a hard forehand that was very long.

The two friends, who frequently practice together on the tour, played even through the fifth game of the final set with Borg taking a 3-3 lead. But again, the sixth game, Vilas' strokes deserted him after he had built a 40-15 edge on his serve.

Borg now holds a 3-4 career edge on Vilas.

STUTTGART, West Germany (AP) — World record holder Dwight Stones of the United States scored an easy high jump victory in an international track and field meet Tuesday, leaping 7 feet, 5 1/2 inches to better West Germany's Walter Boller by a margin of 4 1/4 inches.

Sprinter Steve Williams, shot putter Al Feuerbach and pole vaulter Casey Carrigan of the United States also recorded triumphs.

The swift Williams captured the 100-meter dash in 10.1 seconds, beating fellow American Steve Riddick, 10.33, and Don Quarrie of Jamaica, 10.35; he then took the 200 meters in 20.16 with Quarrie finishing second, Riddick third.

There've Been Some Changes At Forest Hills

The New York Times

New York — When Ken Rosewall won the National Amateur tennis title at Forest Hills 20 years ago, he was rewarded with a gold tennis ball and a handshake. When he won the same tournament six years ago, he got the handshake, a new car and $20,000 in cash. By then, it was known as the United States Open — meaning it was open to amateurs and pros alike — and tennis no longer was considered a genteel recreation for elderly couples or Australian whiz kids.

In fact, when the tournament begins its 12-day stand Wednesday, signs of progress will be all over the place: the prize money will total $309,430, television will be on the scene, some boxes will cost $990 apiece, the old grass courts will have been replaced by a clay-like surface and lights will ring the stadium so that matches can be played at night as well as by the sun's glare.

All the blessings of the big business of sports, that is, including a dash of razzle-dazzle for a game once played without a murmur at the Newport Casino and on Long Island lawns. Tennis has arrived, like golf — which offered $189,200 in prize money for the entire industry 35 years ago but which spreads nearly $8 million around the circuit today.

Tradition has not exactly been trampled along with the grass, because Forest Hills is still Forest Hills in the world of tennis. But not many traditions are surviving in the get-rich-quick scheme of sports these days. Tournament follows tournament, "classic" follows "championship," and you may find yourself asking a simple question like "Who's ahead this year in tennis?" Even the United States Open was preceded this week by the Medi-quick Women's Tennis Classic at Harrison, N.Y.; the United States "professional tennis championship" at Brookline, Mass., and the Tennis Week Open at Orange, N.J.

No wonder Ken Rosewall seemed a bit jaded at Bretton Woods, N.H., when he asked how he felt about tugging again with Jimmy Connors and Rosewall replied "Just another tournament."

The only thing missing from the jumping scene is somebody in charge — a traffic cop or commissioner like Pete Rozelle in football, Bowie Kuhn in baseball, Clarence Campbell in hockey, Deane Beban in golf and Dave DeBusschere or Larry O'Brien in basketball. Not that there's any shortage of bosses. They play today for World Team Tennis, World Championship Tennis, the Association of Tennis Professionals, the Virginia Slims women's tour and the United States Tennis Association, which just dropped the word "lawn" from its title as a sign of the times. Bosses, but no boss of bosses.

"It's like any business, it needs to have guidance," said Bill Talbert, the onetime national champion who has been running the "Open" show at Forest Hills for the last six years. "And it is big business now. Tennis is having a spectacular growth. It went from 20 million players in this country one year to 33 million the next, and maybe 100 million around the world. But we're talking about 500 tournament players now, and there's your key point: would they accept a commissioner?"

"I hope so. It's getting to the point where they need a guy who'd say, 'O.K., we'll direct you. Be considerate of public opinion. They need guidance.'"

Tony Trabert, just elected captain of the Davis Cup team, packed his bags in Los Angeles to fly to New York, where he will handle television commentary at the main event. In the pioneer days, he once took a troupe to Marseille, hammered a nail into the wall of a convention hall, hung his jacket on it and announced "You're a pro now. You carry your dressing room with you."

"Tennis is going through growing pains now," he said. "It's been like that ever since open tennis was permitted. But we'll need someone in authority to prevent things like overlapping tournaments, because everybody wants a slice of the melon."

"Golf won't let anything overlap the Masters of U.S. Open or British Open or the P.G.A. In tennis, you've got the U.S. Open, Wimbledon, the French championships and the Australian. The backbone of the game has been those four, plus the Davis Cup. Now a promoter comes in and puts up a lot of money, and those big four are getting crowded out. You need somebody who's above the haggling and the politics and the different factions."

"Somebody's got to be able to keep a logical schedule to keep from tearing the game apart," said Jack Kramer, another old champion, now executive director of the touring group called the A.T.P. "If something's not done, you're going to find that anybody can come in anytime and start competing with the Wimbledon and Forest Hills."

"Tennis isn't like baseball or football, where you have business-oriented club owners. Our group has 177 recognizable pros and they go all over the world. In golf, you can cut 200 players who start a tournament down to 75 for the final two days. In tennis, you can only eliminate half the field on any day. So you need multiple tournaments so that maybe 128 people each week can be playing for a paycheck. And you need some kind of elected council or somebody to keep order."

"People spend $8 or $10 for a ticket and sponsors pay maybe $75,000," said George Dartt, president of the Eastern Lawn Tennis Association. "There's got to be some authority to suspend a player if he walks off or fails to show. Tennis players are individuals who have managers running their affairs, and the best ones don't need a commissioner now — as long as the prize money is great. But the tournaments do. How long will the sponsors put up with an Ilie Nastase walking off the court?"

"Too many championships now, too many political struggles, boycotts at Wimbledon, even lawsuits. If I get elected president of the U.S.T.A., I'm gone in two years — barely knowing what I'm doing by the end of my term. Forest Hills has survived, but some of the others haven't."

In the old days, some sort of order was kept by the U.S.L.T.A. and its 17 satellite associations.

They were supposed to "promote tennis. Now everybody and his brother Harry is promoting tennis, and the pros are growing rich but the spectators are growing confused."

Royals Gain Split

KANSAS CITY (UPI) — Mark Belanger cracked a tie-breaking homer in the fifth and scored on a wild throw in the eighth to spark the Baltimore Orioles to a 3-2 victory over the Kansas City Royals Tuesday night in the second game of a doubleheader.

George Brett's double in the sixth scored the tie-breaking run in the opener, lifting the Royals to a 4-3 victory in a makeup game caused by Monday night's rainout.

Belanger's two-out solo homer into the left field bleachers was only his second homer of the season.

In the seventh, Belanger bunted and reached first on a fielder's choice. He went to third on a single by Al Bumbry and scored when Steve Busby's pickoff attempt went wide at third.

The Royals scored a run in the second on a triple by Hal McRae and a sacrifice fly by Brett. The Orioles tied the score in the third with an unearned and then Amos Otis singled in a run for the Royals.

In the opener, the Royals pushed across the winning run in the sixth inning when McRae singled with two out and scored on Brett's double. The Royals picked up two unearned runs in the first, but the Orioles pulled ahead 3-2 in the second on a single by Brooks Robinson and a two-run homer by Dave Duncan.

Warriors' Barry Announces Return

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Superstar Rick Barry, who capped a fabulous season by leading the Golden State Warriors to the National Basketball Association championship, announced Tuesday he will return to the team because his attempt to land a job as a full-time sportscaster with CBS Television fell through.

Barry, most valuable player in the NBA playoffs and second leading scorer in the league said he would play for the Warriors "for the next three seasons or as long as I can maintain a high level of performance."

The fiery, 31-year-old all-league forward considered by many as basketball's greatest active player said "it is generally known that I had discussions with the CBS television network regarding fulltime employment. Had these discussions resulted in a fulltime position with CBS, I would have been forced to retire from basketball."

After much soul-searching and deliberation I have decided to remain with the Warriors," he added in an announcement from the Bahamas.

Barry, who played spectacularly in driving underdog Golden State to a remarkable four-game sweep of the Washington Bullets in the NBA final, "my family, and particularly my wife, Pam, was anxious that I continue to be a part of the Warrior organization and continue my career as an active player."

He has three years remaining on his contract.

The people at CBS were most considerate, making it an extremely difficult decision for me," Barry said. "Once my playing career is concluded I want to pursue a broadcasting career on a full-time basis. In the meantime, I plan to continue my off-season involvement with television."

Redeemer Wins League Crown

The Redeemer Lutheran Church girls softball team won the Lutheran Junior High League championship Tuesday with a 16-13 win over First Lutheran Church.

Redeemer exploded for five runs in the seventh inning to capture the title highlighted by a three-run home run by Renee Marple to supply the winning margin.

Sharon McMann, now 12-1, picked up the win for the team, which also won the Lutheran Junior High Tournament last week.

Shelley Epp contributed a triple and a single, while Kim Smith collected two triples and a single for the winning team.

Cardinals Sweep Astros For Two

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Reggie Smith singled home Bake McBride in the 12th inning Tuesday night as the St. Louis Cardinals overcame a seven-run deficit to take a 10-9 victory over the Houston Astros in the first game of a doubleheader.

McBride opened the inning with a single off Houston reliever Jose Sosa, the fourth Astro pitcher. Winning pitcher Al Hrabosky, 11-3, moved McBride to second with a sacrifice. Ted Simmons was walked intentionally before Smith rapped a drive to center to score McBride.

The Cardinals, who trailed 81, going into the seventh, scored six runs in the seventh and two in the eighth to tie the score.

Simmons opened the eighth with a single off Houston reliever Mike Cosgrove and took third on Smith's broken bat double. Cosgrove got the next two batters before Mike Tyson drove in both runners with a single.

Greg Gross' third RBI of the game in the eighth — a sacrifice fly that scored Jerry DaVanon — had given Houston a 9-7 lead. DaVanon and Cesar Cedeno singled off reliever Mike Garman and both runners had advanced on a groundout.

The Cardinals, trailing 8-1, going into the seventh, scored six runs in the seventh and two in the eighth on Tyson's single to send the game into extra innings.

BIG REPORT

Kansas State

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP) — Kansas State Coach Ellis Rainsberger was fuming after the Wildcats' two-hour football practice Tuesday.

"It was a very poor practice," Rainsberger said. "The intensity just was not there. It's the first poor practice we've had. I don't know why it should be that way. It's going to be hot when we play the rest of the season, so that's no excuse."

When asked if there were any specific areas that in line scrimmage will highlight K-State's workout.

Oklahoma State

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)—A collapse in the defensive secondary left Oklahoma State head coach Jim Stanley dissatisfied but a good learning experience in the offensive department was also seen during the Cowboys' practice Tuesday.

"Defensively, I was disappointed in the coverage of the pass routes. We need a lot more work here," Stanley said.

To compound the defensive secondary problems, the Cowboys learned Tuesday corner-back Milton Kirven was declared scholastically ineligible. This left sophomore Willie Nelson and junior college transfer Clifton Sullivan as the ranking cornermen with virtually no experience in reserve.

"Kent Shirley, who has played well at free safety, can move to the corner," Stanley said. "Bobby Shepard did this last year effectively and while it isn't the most desirable situation, it does give us some experience in reserve."

The practice was injury-free and a similar workout is in store for the Cowboys Wednesday with several sessions to be filmed.

Missouri

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Missouri football coach Al Onofrio was displeased with the way his Tigers practiced Tuesday.

Onofrio said the team continued specific preparations for the Alabama game Sept. 8, but their concentration and tempo was poor.

There was both good and bad news on the injury front. Onofrio said Chuck Banta and Pete Allard will be out for several days with ankle injuries. But first team fullback John Blakeman is expected to be sufficiently recovered from a thigh injury Wednesday to resume practice.

Oklahoma

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Oklahoma football coach Barry Switzer said he was pleased with the progress of his young linebackers following Tuesday drills.

"Looking at our scrimmage films of the past couple of days," the Sooners head coach said, "I feel that all of them have a chance to be good players for us. There aren't any give-ups there."

Tuesday marked the end of two-a-day practice sessions for Oklahoma. The Sooners plan to scrimmage again Wednesday, Friday and Saturday before they begin to taper off in preparation for the season opener against Oregon here on Sept. 13.

Switzer said both of Tuesday's sessions were devoted to routine drills.

"All of our teamwork was devoted to working on our play action passes," said Switzer.

The defensive secondary again received praise from Switzer Tuesday, particularly for their work against running plays.

"I know they can play a team that runs the football," Switzer said.

"They are a product of our offense. They have to be physically tough just to survive."

Several Sooners were held out of the sessions because of bagging injuries. Defensive end Jimbo Elrod sat out with a bruised shoulder, as did strong safety Myron Shoate. Linebacker Bill Dalke was also slowed with a nerve problem in his shoulder.

Iowa State

AMES, Iowa (AP) — Iowa State went through a pair of rugged two-hour practice sessions Tuesday in its first day of contact, and Coach Earle Bruce said he is eager for a scrimmage.

"We have a long way to go before playing a ballgame," Bruce said, "and I'm sure glad we have 21 practices left before playing UCLA. I'm anxious to see daily improvement in all phases of our game."

The Cyclones worked on installing their offense and stressed timing and execution in both drills. Quarterbacks Wayne Stanley, Tom Mason and Buddy Hardeman concentrated on the passing game as the three continue to battle for the starting position.

Kansas

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Kansas' football defense suffered a blow Tuesday when it was revealed linebacker Randy Cox, a junior, would be out indefinitely with a dislocated shoulder.

Cox, a junior college transfer from Fort Scott, Kan., had been running with first unit before the injury Monday. He is the second Jayhawk linebacker to be knocked out of action in the past week because of injury.

Don Pile, also a junior, has a bruised knee.

Coach Bud Moore said senior Rick Kovatch would go from defensive end to a weak side linebacker. Kovatch played both situations last year.

Auburn May Join Tide Suit

AUBURN, Ala. (AP) — Dr. Harry M. Philpott, president of Auburn University, said Tuesday that Auburn might consider entering a law suit against the National Collegiate Athletic Association if it goes to federal court.

The suit was filed last week by the University of Alabama in a state circuit court in Tuscaloosa to enjoin the NCAA from enforcing recently adopted rules to limit football squads to 60 players at home and 48 on the road.

"We are following with interest the suit that Alabama has filed," Philpott said. "We have made an offer to the University of Alabama to do anything that might be helpful in this."

Meanwhile, Philpott said the two universities were having conversations about using the same number of players when the two teams collide in Birmingham in November.

Under the contract, Auburn is the home team, but since Auburn plays only that game in Birmingham, the NCAA interpretation of squad restriction rules would make Auburn a visitor and Alabama the home team.

Dog More Important Than Gun

By TOM VINT
Outdoor Writer

There hasn't been a hunting man born who doesn't get that special thrill of excitement watching a good bird dog do its thing.

Whether it be a pointing dog running wide open, then skidding to a solid point over a covey of quail, or a flushing dog's tail suddenly shift into high gear before the dog pounces toward a startled rooster pheasant, hunting dogs are a special kind of hunting companion.

"If I had to forget something when I go hunting, I'd sooner forget my shotgun than my dog," said Chet McClain, the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission's hunting and field trial dog specialist.

McClain will be on hand Saturday at the Lincoln Young Hunters Clinic to help demonstrate hunting dog types for youngsters and their parents.

on the Isaac Walton League grounds. The second annual clinic is co-sponsored by the Lincoln Sunday Journal and Star and the Ikes. It begins at 8 a.m.

"Folks can get an idea, a first hand look, at what these dogs will do," McClain said of the clinic.

Hunting dogs are special companions afield, McClain agrees, as well as being a conservation tool more hunters should use.

Save Lost Birds

"It's one of the good conservation tools in recovering birds which might be lost otherwise, like cripples and the running wounded," McClain said.

"You'd just as well not shoot a bird at all if you're going to lose it in heavy cover."

McClain also pointed out field trials as being beneficial for hunting dogs in maintaining high standards in breeding stock.

"Without competition things would start going downhill," he said. "Field trials add a great deal for dog stock, maybe not directly to the hunter, but they do provide the breeding stock for the hunting dogs. They help maintain breed standards on a high level."

McClain, who coordinates field trial dates for the state, says the public is often drawn out to field trials to see the dogs work and to help them in determining a breed they might be interested in for hunting or trial use.

"The public can get a good look at what these types of dogs will do," McClain said. "And trials regularly stimulate many folks into going out and buying a puppy."

"If you've got a dog and enjoy seeing the dog work, making a point or a retrieve, there's a special meaning to hunting and a special respect for it. With a dog, you're putting more emphasis on having fun with your dog than filling your bag limits," he said.

Goodyear's "All-Weather 78" tire is built with polyester cord that's tempered in an exclusive process for optimum strength and resilience. The wide 78-series tread is "reverse molded" — a technique borrowed from race tire production. In reverse molding, the contour of the tread surface is slightly concave as it comes from the mold — so that when the tire is inflated, the tread makes full, flat contact with the road. The rib tread is well grooved, providing plenty of traction edges for decisive grip. In every detail, the "All-Weather 78" gives you honest quality, at a price that's in step with the time.

Pirates Scout Prisons

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates will send two scouts to four Illinois prisons in September in search of baseball talent, the Illinois Department of Corrections announced Tuesday.

A spokesman for the department said he believes it is the first time major league baseball scouts have visited Illinois' prisons to find players.

Special tryouts for some 150 prisoners have been set for Sept. 2 at Menard Correctional Center, Sept. 3 at Pontiac Correctional Center, Sept. 4 at Stateville Correctional Center and Sept. 5 at St. Charles Youth Center.

The department spokesman said he understands the scouts will be looking for running speed and strong throwing rather than good hitting. The Pirates feel they can teach hitting if a player shows he is an exceptional runner and thrower, the department spokesman said.

Two members of the Detroit Tigers, outfielders Gates Brown and Ron LeFlore, are ex-offenders whose baseball skills were discovered while they were in prison, the department said.

Merrill Hess, assistant scouting director for the Pirates, said in a telephone interview from Pittsburgh that this will be the first time the Pirates have sent scouts to conduct tryouts for prisoners.

"We're looking for ballplayers, and who knows—maybe some of them are behind the walls," Hess said.

"We realize that the outside world is not always amenable to giving employment to those who have offended it, but we're not that way," he said.

The two scouts are Gene Baker, a former major league infielder, and Branch B. Rickey, grandson of the late Branch Rickey who signed Jackie Robinson, the first black player in major league baseball.

Hess said he believes the Pirates are the only team other than the Tigers who have scouted prison players.

Forego Stakes Title On Marlboro

NEW YORK (UPI) — Forego, the 1974 Horse of the Year, will meet the leading challengers for 1975 title, including this year's top 3-year-old colts, according to the invitations extended Tuesday for the $250,000 Marlboro Cup Sept. 13 at Belmont Park.

Ten of the nation's top thoroughbreds were invited to participate in the nation's richest race, a field whose winner will have taken a giant stride toward the 1975 Horse of the Year award as well as earning $150,000.

The cream of this year's 3-year-old crop — Foolish Pleasure, Avatar, Forceten and Wajima — received invitations for the third running of the 1 1/4 mile event. Ancient Title, the West Coast's leading handicap horse and winner of the Whitney Handicap at Saratoga in his Eastern debut three weeks ago, also was extended an invitation to meet Forego for the first time.

The United States' only millionaire mare, Susan's Girl, was the only female among the 10 invited, while handicap winners Royal Gint, Step Nicely and Stonewalk completed the field.

But Forego is the one they must beat.

The 5-year-old gelded son of Forh has won from distances of 7 furlongs to two miles in the past two years, despite some tremendous weight assignments. The winner of five of six starts this year, the Lazy F Ranch's Forego was carrying 136 pounds when Gold And Myrrh beat him by less than a length in the Metropolitan Mile.

But Forego came back to win the Brooklyn Handicap at 1 1/4 miles, carrying 132 pounds en route to a Belmont Park record of 1:59 4/5. The millionaire gelding followed up with a tremendous victory in the 1 1/4-mile Suburban Handicap, successfully carrying 134 pounds that included jockey Heliodoro Gustines.

The quartet of 3-year-olds, plus Ancient Title, shape up as Forego's toughest competitors, but there are doubts about several of the young colts run-

Kentucky Derby winner Foolish Pleasure was not entered in the Travers after several unimpressive workouts and John L. Greer's colt has yet to snap back into top form.

Saron Stable's Forceten also was withdrawn from the Travers after a filling (swelling) was discovered in his right hind leg. Also a son of Forh, Forceten has won six straight, including the Swaps and Jim Dandy, after finishing fourth in his racing debut.

Arthur Seeligson's Avatar, the Belmont Stakes victor, has not raced since finishing a disappointing sixth in the Swaps June 29.

East-West Stable's Wajima, however, has been getting better with each start and was an impressive 10 1/4-length winner in the Travers. Until the last two months, the Bold Ruler colt's chief claim to fame had been his $600,000 yearling purchase price.

Even Forego is not a certain starter in the Marlboro, with trainer Sherill Ward usually keeping his strapping gelding off sloppy tracks. Last year Ward made an exception and allowed Forego to run this race in the slop. Carrying highweight of 126 pounds, Forego finished third as Big Spruce was the winner.

Secretariat won the inaugural Marlboro in 1973, setting a world record for 1 1/4 miles of 1:45 2/5.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — If there was any doubt that World Team Tennis meant more than just a paycheck to some of its stars, Pittsburgh Triangles standouts Evonne Roolag and Vitas Gerulaitis proved it in the team's 21-14 championship victory over San Francisco.

Miss Goolagong, who is married but plays under her maiden name, ranked the WTT crown as just below the Federation Cup in team achievement.

Triangles members were gleefully popping champagne bottles. Among them was Gerulaitis, who was named Most Valuable Player after teaming with Mark Cox to win in men's doubles and overwhelming Tom Okker in a 6-1 singles victory.

London (UPI) — John Walker said Tuesday his world mile record of 3:49.4 should be safe — "for the moment."

Walker is in London for a meet Friday night that puts him in the mile against three runners who have beaten him this season, none in the mile.

Nastase Gets Tourney Win
South Orange, N.J. (UPI) —	The Nastase battled poor court conditions and a temperamental opponent in defeating Bob Hewitt, 7-6, 6-1 in the men's singles final of the $50,000 Tennis Week Open Tournament at the Orange Tennis Club here Tuesday night.
The tournament triumph	could be just the winning tonic that the flamboyant Romanian star needs before opening competition in the U.S. Open Championships at Forest Hills.
Nastase won here in 1972 and	then repeated his success later at the national championships.
Hewitt was his usual uncontrol-	lable self in the final after a rather quiet week in which he earned four victories without losing a set. But rain forced a two-day delay in the tournament and a new clay topping had to be placed on the surface Tuesday.

WTT Championship More Than Paycheck

PITTSBURGH (AP) — If there was any doubt that World Team Tennis meant more than just a paycheck to some of its stars, Pittsburgh Triangles standouts Evonne Roolag and Vitas Gerulaitis proved it in the team's 21-14 championship victory over San Francisco.

While the Australian star was doused in a shower of beer by her husband Roger, other Triangles members were gleefully popping champagne bottles.

Among them was Gerulaitis, who was named Most Valuable Player after teaming with Mark Cox to win in men's doubles and overwhelming Tom Okker in a 6-1 singles victory.

"It's great," he said of the award. "What can I say. I wanted to win it."

Asked how he ranked the team's victory with his other tennis achievements, Gerulaitis said, "It's up there because I'm sharing it with six people."

"We worked hard to achieve this," Cox said. "This is a great team. Whoever says tennis is not a team sport is ridiculous. Team moral won the competition tonight in particular and the playoffs in general."

Mrs. Cawley, bristling after a 6-2 drubbing she took with teammate Peggy Michel to San Francisco's Betty Stove and Ilana Kloss in the opening contest.

Young Rallies To Win First Round Match

RICHMOND Va. (UPI) — Bob Young, the University of Georgia golf captain, rallied from a four hole deficit, won the last five, and upset Maryland Open champion Marty West 1-up Tuesday in the first round of the 75th U.S. Amateur Championship.

"Just luck," said the 21-year-old Young who received his degree less than two weeks ago. "A player as good as he is doesn't usually lose five holes in a row."

Young's victory was the most significant surprise on an oppressively hot and humid day at the Country Club of Virginia's James River course.

Temperatures reached almost 100 degrees and it was so muggy Andy Bean said he felt "like I was taking a shower out there."

Officials took the unusual step of watering the greens in the course of play to keep them from getting burnt out.

"If it stays like this, I don't know if they're going to be able to play 36-holes in a day (that begins Friday) without some people passing out," said 20-year-old Curtis Strange. "I felt like I ran 10 miles today. If I feel like I do, at my age, it's going to be awfully hard on the older players."

Strange was right. On a day like this, the young and strong college players figured to have an advantage and most of the good ones advanced with ease.

Florida's Bean, the Western and Dixie Amateur Champion, needed just a dozen holes to eliminate Gary Tunney of Pensacola, Fla., 8 and 6, and Strange, the NCAA champion as a Wake Forest freshman a year ago, beat Richard Peterson, a Cincinnati engineer, 5 and 4.

Tom Jones of Oklahoma State, the Big-8 champion, won easily, as did Lance Ten Broeck of Texas, the Southwest Conference winner, and Jay Segel, Berwin, Pa., a seven-time Pennsylvania amateur champion and a nine-stroke winner earlier this summer in the Porter Cup.

William Loeffler, Englewood, Colo., beat Charles Moyer, Wood River, Neb., 3 and 2.

30 Straight For Bobick

LANDOVER, Md. (AP) — Former Olympian Duane Bobick won his 30th consecutive fight Tuesday night when he scored an eight-round technical knockout over Pat Duncan in their scheduled 10-round heavyweight bout at the Capital Centre.

Bobick, who turned 25 on Sunday, was awarded the knockout when Duncan failed to respond to the bell for the eighth round.

Walker Says Record 'Safe'

LONDON (UPI) — John Walker said Tuesday his world mile record of 3:49.4 should be safe — "for the moment."

"I don't think it can go any lower at the moment," he said on arrival in London, "or, in the near future, below the 3.46 mark. The makeup of the body doesn't permit it."

Walker is in London for a meet Friday night that puts him in the mile against three runners who have beaten him this season, none in the mile.

American Marty Liquori defeated the 23-year-old New Zealander over two miles, Mike Bolt over 800 meters and Rod Dixon over 1,500 meters.

Reader Says Air Conditioning Causes Headache, Sore Throat

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: My problem is air conditioning. If I'm in a place that has it for more than a few minutes, my head becomes stuffy and I develop a headache, also a sore throat. I sometimes get a sore cold from it.

Is there anything I can do to overcome it? W.C.J.

You are undoubtedly unusually sensitive to drafts and to temperature changes. At home, you may be able to control things by setting the air conditioner controls low, increasing humidity levels, etc. But elsewhere things are probably pretty well out of your hands. There is really not much you can do about buildings whose custodians feel they must recreate polar atmospheric conditions. However, with the developing energy crisis, we may find a bit less of this as fuel conservation cuts down on indiscriminate air conditioning.

Do not discount the possibility that your sinuses may be partly to blame. Sudden changes in temperature and atmosphere can play havoc with your nose and sinuses. Yours may be a bit more sensitive than normal. You might have them checked.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have a three-year-old daughter who sucks her thumb. About six or eight months ago I tried using a preparation on her thumb to discourage this. It worked temporarily, then she started wetting her pants. Her father is now trying scolding, but this only works when he is around.

It wouldn't bother me so much, but she sucks her thumb day and night, and it is changing the shape of it. Can you help.

—Mrs. C.W.
If the effect on her thumb is what is bothering you, you needn't worry. The thumb will recover nicely as soon as she stops. The teeth may be another matter. Thumb-sucking should be discouraged because some authorities believe it can cause dental disturbances. This is especially true if the sucking continues after permanent teeth have emerged.

But in a three-year-old the term "discourage" should not be confused with the word "forbid."

Often, and as you have learned, an overly stern approach — threats, cajoling, scolding — is unproductive, and can produce other compensating habits, perhaps less desirable, as in your daughter's bedwetting. Incidentally, the bedwetting may not necessarily be related to emotional factors, or even to the thumb-sucking, and you should not assume this automatically. In the persistent thumb-sucker, it is usually best (especially at her age) to back off a while and take an understanding approach. I am not 100 percent sold, incidentally, on the preparations, gloves, or other devices intended to discourage the habit.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is proctitis? What causes it, and what can be done for it? —C.H.

This is an inflammation of the rectal membranes. It is often traceable to a specific cause, such as hemorrhoids, dysentery, or to ulcerative colitis.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: There is much disagreement among my friends as to whether vitamins lose their effectiveness when taken with meals. Is it true? —Mrs. R.W.

If you think about it for a moment you will realize that most of the vitamins we receive are taken "with meals," and that is the most natural way to get them — in our food. Taking vitamin supplements with a meal has the same effect as taking them between meals.

There are times when they have to be given intravenously for more immediate effect, and this could be what you have in mind.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband, who is 50, had a complete examination recently and was told he has a rusty heart. I would like your thoughts on rusty heart. —Mrs. H.O.H.

I, too, am confused by the term "rusty heart." Readers send me a great variety of unconventional terms that their doctors use, and which only the individual doctor can interpret. I suggest you call your husband's doctor and ask him what he means.

FROM THE NEBRASKA MEDICAL ASSOCIATION
The Nebraska Medical Association reminds parents that good health begins at home. Schools provide health and basic hygiene programs, but a school health program has a better chance to succeed when there is mutual respect and understanding between parents and school personnel... and between the family physician, dentist and school health personnel.

When a child is ill, he should stay at home for his sake and his classmates.

'Best Of Show' Goes To Bicentennial Quilt

Mrs. Hazel Myers considers her Bicentennial quilt "really, the best I ever made."

The needlework judges at the 1975 Nebraska State Fair apparently were impressed also because Mrs. Myers received the "best of show" award, sponsored by Stearns and Foster, a Cincinnati, Ohio, quilting company.

"I don't know what I'll do with the $25 (prize money)," Mrs. Myers said. "Maybe buy more material and get started on another one."

The 1975 quilting champ, who's been at it since she was 11, guessed she spent 1,000 hours piecing together and another 1,000 hours stitching the bedcover.

Visitors to the Lancaster County Fair last week may remember seeing the quilt, the focal point of the special Bicentennial exhibit.

"I want to have it where people could enjoy it as much as I enjoyed making it," she said.

Her patchwork and design, featuring 50 "twinkling" stars and a colorful eagle is nearly all original.

"I chased to fabric stores for a whole year," she said, before she found exactly what she wanted.

The tiny quilting stitches, which undulating clinched the award form the shapes of eagles and stars.

The quilting alone took seven months to complete.

A southpaw quilter, Mrs. Myers said she watches baseball games on television and listens to music while she quilts.

To date she has completed 59 of the old-fashioned bedcovers. Most have been given to her four children, ten grandchildren and numerous friends.

Her fingers give the avid quilter away. On her left hand the fingers are calloused from rubbing a thimble and her right hand show signs of thousands of tiny pin pricks.

"You use these to tell if the needle comes through," she explained, rubbing the fingers on her right hand together.

"They get really sore and sometimes I have to stop and let them heal up a bit."

Although she hasn't entered the State Fair quilting competition for several years, Mrs. Myers has won "best quilt" several times before. This year she also walked away with three other first place ribbons for: a quilted pot holder, pieced, few-color quilt and best crib quilt.

Already she's planning another masterpiece to enter in next year's State Fair.

"It's almost ready to put on a frame," she said, hinting only that it is also red, white and blue.

AWARD WINNERS... Hazel Myers and her quilt.

Right Time Set For Dairy Test

Judging of the first half of the Nebraska State Fair open class dairy show will begin at 8 a.m. Saturday.

Fair Manager Henry Brandt said the schedule for the show erroneously appeared as 1 p.m. in the state fair premium book and advance publicity.

Copper Merger Opposed In Suit

Washington (AP) — The Justice Department has filed suit to block the proposed merger of two of the nation's major copper companies, Amx Inc. of Greenwich, Conn., and Copper Range Co. of White Pine, Mich.

The civil antitrust suit, filed in U.S. District Court in Hartford, Conn., also seeks a court order requiring Amx to divest itself of about 468,000 shares of Copper Range common stock.

Amx holds about 20% of the total outstanding shares of Copper Range.

State Fair Fine Arts Winners Listed

Fine arts blue ribbon winners of the 1975 Nebraska State Fair are:

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

By SIDNEY OMARR

Forecast for Wednesday
Feedback: "You asked why Scorpio is willing always to aid the underdog or the younger. Perhaps because Scorpio might be considered an underdog. As for helping people: Perhaps it is within us all, that desire to never grow old; perhaps helping youth is our fountain of youth and he who walks to the well becomes a part of it. Always young at heart is the credo." — William E. Dale, PhD, Chicago, Ill.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Be direct, specific in connection with money, credits, special accounts. Guard valuables — refuse to give up something for nothing. Valid appraisals should be on agenda. Develop concept, submit ideas to person who knows how to untangle red tape.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Lunar cycle is such that you have new experiences, stimulating challenges. Be perceptive — read between the lines. Protect your own interests — take initiative. Highlight originality, greater degree of independence. Welcome new start in new direction.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Home, family member — and period of temporary confinement command attention. You get what you need through diplomacy. You can't force issues — or persons. Taurus, Libra figure prominently. Key answers are obtained by consulting individual who works "behind the scenes."

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Emphasis on response from professional superiors, civic officials. Outline program and present it. You attract attention in "high places." See as is — demand factual information as contrasted to rumor. You'll comprehend!

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Accent career, ambition, relationships which aid in making room for you at more elevated position. Get facts, figures in order; organize priorities and take inventory. Capricorn, Cancer individuals are likely to be in picture.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Long-range projects are emphasized. Open lines of communication. Give attention to writing, advertising, special studies. You are on brink of discovery. Language barrier will be eliminated. Project is finished, whether or not you know it.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Money concerning partner, mate is featured. Investment procedures are reviewed as new information becomes available. Leo, Aquarius persons figure in picture. Dig beneath surface indications in order to gain greater perspective.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Accent on legal affairs, ability to get personal viewpoint across to more people. Subtle cues are available if you "pick up" on them. Intuitive intellect provides key answers. Share knowledge because now you do learn by teaching.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Light touch with money. Know it and avoid pushing, demanding and insisting that only your way can succeed. Be willing to laugh at your own foibles. Gemini — and another Sagittarian — figure prominently.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): You find that getting to heart of matters is constructive — and necessary. Accent is on love, creativity and meaningful changes. What was a restrictive influence could turn out to be a definite asset.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Specific subjects, demands are spotlighted. Productivity, security and value of property — these also are accentuated. Be analytical. Find reasons. Don't be satisfied that something merely happened. Find the "why" of events.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): You may be visiting, receiving visitors, checking special calls, messages. Forces tend to be scattered as you devote more time than usual to social amenities. Taurus, Libra individuals are featured — and so is music.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you make a mark, are spoiled by opposite sex, can be artistic, temperamental, creative and stubborn. You travel this year; meet fascinating people and gain weight. In November, if single, you could fall madly in love. Married or single, this is your year of opportunity. Be selective — don't sell yourself short.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It's a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 4 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 4, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.
